Mother and Mail Carrier's Efforts Save Life of Tot

TWIN FALLS, July 25—Cory Lynn Nauman, 2-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Jeff Nauman, was saved from drowning in an irrigation ditch about 10 a.m. Thursday because a mailman, Ed Buell, rural mail carrier from Murtaugh, gave the tot artificial respiration. The boy's mother had pulled the child from the ditch by his heels. The boy had fallen into the ditch at Arlis Lee's farm while playing with some other children. Buell is a Red Cross trained lifesaver.

The ditch into which the boy fell is a V type concrete ditch used to carry water from irrigation pumps. The place where he fell is in located about two miles east and one-fourth mile north of the old community of Arlis Lee.

There was a flow of only four or five inches of water in the ditch but the water had been dammed to raise the water high enough to irrigate nearby fields by means of siphon pumps. At the point where the boy fell in the water was about 18 inches deep to the bottom of the ditch. The ditch is approximately three feet deep.

Buell said he had delivered mail at the Lee home and as he drove away he saw a woman running along the ditch bank. He said as he continued to watch her he caught a glimpse of the boy's head in the water. The woman, Mrs. Nauman, clutched the boy's heels and pulled him from the ditch, Buell said. With the unconscious boy in her arms she began to run towards the Lee house.

Buell stopped his car and returned to the Lee home. He said the boy was not breathing when he began artificial respiration. After the boy had recovered consciousness he was taken to a doctor in Kimberly. Buell said he understood the boy's head was caught beneath the check dam in the ditch when pulled from the water by his mother.

U.S. Help to Schools Gets House Defeat

WASHINGTON, July 25—The House today killed the 1½-billion dollar school construction bill.

The bill-call vote was 208 to 233. It was a defeat for President Eisenhower, who has repeatedly asked Congress to pass legislation to help states build vitally needed classrooms.

The vote to kill the bill followed a fiery floor debate over whether Eisenhower really favored the compromise bill.

It differed in many respects from the program that Eisenhower originally asked, and the President only two days ago sent word to the house that he was not entirely satisfied with the measure. He let it be known, however, that he would accept the compromise if the house approved it.

The "sudden-death" move to kill the measure was initiated by one of its Southern foes—Rep. Howard W. Smith, D., Va.

Earlier, the house on a 136-105 non-record vote had attached an anti-segregation amendment to the program.

AEC Explodes 10th Bomb of Summer Tests

ATOP ANGELS' PEAK, Nev., July 25—The atomic energy commission touched off the 10th nuclear explosion of its 1957 summer test series at 6:30 a. m. PDT today from a capsule balloon anchored 500 feet above the Nevada proving grounds.

The blast was so bright it made the morning sun appear to dim by comparison. Its fireball lasted for approximately 10 seconds and the mushroom pattern following the blast was quickly.

Some 15 seconds after the blast the mushroom's top became obscured at about 20,000 feet by a driving cloud. Dust stirred and tumbled on the floor of the desert.

The mushroom rose above the cloud within two minutes and still was rising at the 30,000-foot level.

At this level it appeared to lean slightly eastward as it drifted slowly higher.

The explosion was seen by reporters at this unofficial vantage point some 8,000 feet above sea level. The last was closed to news media.

"Owens," today's test name, designation, was a design of the University of California radiation laboratory at Livermore, Calif. It had a yield estimated by the AEC at "below 10,000 tons of TNT."

The device, named for a mountain peak in California, had been slated for detonation eight days ago, but was postponed by adverse weather and inconsistent wind patterns.

Mansfield Urges Job Elimination

WASHINGTON, July 25—Senator Mansfield, D., Mont., suggested today that the job of director of the International Cooperation Administration be abolished and the director's duties shifted to the state department.

ICA Director John B. Hollister has resigned, effective upon the appointment and qualification of a successor. ICA administrators the foreign aid program.

Idaho Saved From Snake River "Steal"

(Editorial)

Now that the house interior committee has given the federal Hells canyon dam the kiss of death, the professional political mourners—Senators Morse, Neuberger and Church and Representatives Post and Ullman—can sit down and cry their eyes out, at least, for effect.

"This is a sad day, a sad day," said Congressman Ullman of Oregon, with his customary anguish.

And Grace Frost of Idaho joined in the dolorous chorus. In killing the Hells canyon dam, she said the committee was "strangling the life blood of the Pacific Northwest."

What a disastrous day it was in American history! These poor souls crying in desperation because they had lost their fight for "the people" and the Pacific Northwest destined to dry up and blow away for lack of a governmental transfusion.

Actually, it was a sad day for those who are socialistic in their thinking—who would like to have the government take over everything. Then it would be necessary for us only to pay more and more taxes to Uncle Sam so he could give us everything "for free."

It was a sad day for those states which had designs on Idaho's power and water resources in the Snake river. They had counted on getting the lion's share of all these benefits with the aid of several of our own representatives in congress. It was a scheme cleverly designed to make it appear that even "the people of Idaho" were agreed that for the "country's general good" it would be best for the government to take over control of the river and build a high dam in Hells canyon.

But all the weeping and wailing by those who have headed up the long fight for a high dam was just another act of political subterfuge which has characterized the fight all along.

No one needs to think for a minute these grief stricken mourners will now bow to the will of majority thinking in customary government procedure. The fact they have lost out in at least three sessions of congress, in a year-long hearing before the federal power commission, and in repeated appeals to the highest courts in the land will not deter them in their primary objective.

With them it has been a political issue from the start, and in the last dying struggle

Hope of Later Consideration Of High Dam Bill Kept Alive

WASHINGTON, July 25—Opponents of a senate-passed bill to authorize a high federal dam in Hells canyon on the Snake river were frustrated today in their efforts to give it a death blow in the house reclamation subcommittee. There were indications that the issue may still be before congress next year. Yesterday, foes of the project defeated in the house interior committee—parent body off the reclamation subcommittee—a house measure to authorize construction of the high dam.

They meant to dent the same fate today to a similar bill which had been referred to the reclamation subcommittee after the senate had passed it. Admittedly the bill's opponents, including a solid Republican lineup, had enough votes to do this.

Proponents of the dam staved off a vote until the noon hour brought the house into session and blocked any further action.

The subcommittee will take up the matter again tomorrow.

A move to postpone action on the senate bill indefinitely was made by Representative Saylor, R., Pa., after the subcommittee had voted 15-10 to take it up as a matter of business.

Chairman Engle, D., Calif., of the full interior committee then offered a substitute motion, which still was pending when the session ended, to postpone action until Feb. 1, 1958.

He told the subcommittee that in indefinite postponement would be tantamount to killing the bill, but that postponing action until a definite date would keep the legislation in the subcommittee's hands.

Proponents kill the bill, he said, they may be putting their foot "into a parliamentary trap."

Engle, it was reported, was referring to the possibility that if the senate bill is killed, a new measure authorizing the high Hells canyon dam will be introduced as any engineers' project and sent to the public works committee of the house and senate, thereby bypassing the interior committee.

"Betrayal" Charged In High Dam Defeat

WASHINGTON, July 25—Sen. Richard L. Neuberger, D., Ore., charged today the Eisenhower administration and the Republican party "betrayed the public interest" in pushing for defeat of the federal Hells canyon dam bill. But Eisenhower said in a letter to a GOP congressman that he is "more convinced than ever" that private power development of the middle Snake river on the Idaho-Oregon border is "sound."

The house interior committee killed a Hells canyon high dam proposal 16 to 14 yesterday. Eisenhower's letter, to Rep. Jack Westland, R., Wash., was written before the committee acted, but in it he explained his reasons for opposing the public power project. Neuberger said the committee's rejection of Hells canyon "is a tragic outcome to the long struggle by the people of the Pacific Northwest to develop fully the Snake river's vast power potential."

"In the years to come, it should never be forgotten that the Eisenhower administration and the Republican party must shoulder major blame for this betrayal of the public interest," he said.

"The decision will shrink for all time the amount of power, flood control and navigation possible in the Columbia basin."

The Idaho Power company has been licensed by the federal power commission to build three low dams on the Snake. Two of them already are under construction.

In his letter to Westland dated July 19 but not released until yesterday, Eisenhower said "obviously the nation cannot and should not finance all water resource development with federal funds."

"The Idaho Power company decision," he said, "is a betrayal of the public interest."

State's Legion Parley Names New Adjutant

LEWISTON, July 25—Idaho Legionnaires replaced their long-time adjutant, Sam Vance of Boise, here yesterday in a spirited state election.

Mel Meadows, American Falls, was elected department commander to succeed Hawley Atkinson, Boise. Lou Babb, Boise, was elected adjutant by roll call ballot of the 60 posts represented.

Vance, a past commander, has been department adjutant for the last 16 years.

The annual election was the liveliest business of the department's 39th annual convention which ran into an extra half-day session.

A lengthy internal affairs morning report which, among other actions, squelched Lewiston's attempt to move the headquarters site here from Boise, took up most of the day's activities.

Guy Coles, Gooding, was named vice commander and Elias Overgaard, Boise, as elected chaplain.

Re-elected was Walter Brannan, Weiser, historian; John Maszie, Boise, sergeant at arms, and Leslie Howard, Bonners Ferry, to the finance commission.

Some 526 delegates were registered for the four day convention.

Mazel Harris, Pocatello, was elected president of the department's auxiliary.

Also named were Mrs. Eleanor Ruetter, Grangeville, vice president; Mrs. Alta Schwartz, Nampa, secretary-treasurer, and Mrs. Helen Fitch, Kootenai, historian.

West Accused Of Slowdown In Arms Talk

MOSCOW, July 25—Premier Bulganin has accused the West of stalling the disarmament talks in an effort to aid West German Chancellor Konrad Adenauer's election campaign. Bulganin included that accusation in a 6,000-word letter to British Prime Minister Macmillan made public last night. He also proposed that the United States and the European powers pledge mutually to withhold help from any aggressor in Europe.

The Bulganin letter was a reply to a June 14 letter from Macmillan, which in turn had answered a previous Bulganin communication on international questions.

Linking the Sept. 15 West German elections with the disarmament talks, Bulganin charged the West was prolonging the arms deadlock by "bringing up this or that political problem" to aid its election campaign.

Polish Hoodlums Stage Near-Riot

WARSAW, July 25—The Polish news agency Pao reported today that a group of boys described as "hoodlums" staged the second near-riot in Poznan in a month.

All Polish newspapers carried the story of the flareup last night between the "hoodlums," Poland's nearest thing to American zoot suiters, and local police in the restive provincial capital's Wielkopolska restaurant.

Crowds gathered to watch the police break up the 10-minute clash with tear gas. The demonstration was described as an ordinary gang-fight that had no political overtones.

AEC Tour Ends

IDAHO FALLS, July 25—A 16-day tour of U. S. atomic installations ended here yesterday for 50 foreign industrialists and government leaders.

The group included persons from West Germany, Italy, Belgium, France, the Netherlands and Luxembourg.

Blaze Brought Under Control

BOISE, July 25—A rampaging range fire which moved down the foothills to within two miles of northeast Boise homes during the night was brought under control this morning after burning more than 4,000 acres of grassland.

"We've got men all around it and have it under control," the bureau of land management fire dispatcher reported.

William Mathews, BLM district range manager, said the big fire "very definitely" was man-caused.

"The spread of the flames toward Boise and uphill toward timber caused Gov. Robert E. Smylie to declare an emergency and alert the national guard late last night."

Bonus Offers on Leases Approved

BOISE, July 25—The Idaho land board voted today to invite bonus offers when there is competition for a mineral lease on land it controls.

In the past the lease has gone to the applicant offering the greatest increase over the minimum 25-cent per acre rental required.

Arthur Wilson, land commissioner, said in the future the rental will be fixed at 25 cents per acre.

Large Hole Ripped In Plane Fuselage; Passenger Missing

LOS ANGELES, July 25—A mysterious hole was ripped in an airplane flying 10,000 feet over California's Mojave desert today and a passenger was blown to his death. Investigators theorize that the man shot himself and bullet holes so weakened the plane that its side blew out. The plane landed safely. Its 12 other passengers and crew of three were unhurt. The missing passenger is a retired San Fernando valley jeweler who flew to Las Vegas last night and boarded the Los Angeles-bound plane this morning. He had taken out round trip insurance policies for $125,000, with his wife as beneficiary.

Western airlines, operator of the twin-engine Convair 240, said S. P. Binstock, 62, North Hollywood, went to the plane's washroom soon after it left Las Vegas, Nevada gambling town, at 2:50 a.m.

He stayed there until the blast occurred at 3:37 a.m.

The blast was opposite the washroom. Western said its investigators found four bullet holes in the fuselage near the edge of the 4 by 7-foot hole.

An earlier theory that an explosive charge might have been touched off was discounted. Western said, when no signs of powder burns—or any sort of a blast—were found.

Western said its theory is that the bullet holes so weakened the side of the plane that air pressure blew it out.

Binstock was in the washroom so long that one passenger became

"No Place for Me"

The big, bewildered eyes of Sampson, a lion cub, and those of Dawn Breeze, 20-month-old daughter of the Honolulu zoo director, speak up against a bath in the bathroom sink at the Breeze home. The occasion was a spruce-up for Sampson's special appearance for photographers and children at the zoo. The cub has been living at the Breeze home but, Breeze said, he's getting too big and will be moved into a regular cage at the zoo. Dawn will be happier, too. (AP wirephoto)

Objections Posted for Suit Against Hospital

GOODING, July 25—Objections to naming Magic Valley Memorial hospital, Twin Falls, in a $321,503.08 damage action as a result of an automobile accident have been filed in district court here. At the same time, Dr. William H. Woodson, who also has been named in the action along with George Moody, sr., was defendant in the case brought by Mr. and Mrs. Pete Lanning, Shoshone.

The original action was started in November, 1956, as a result of an automobile accident the preceding March. Mrs. Lanning was a passenger in a car driven by George Moody, sr., when the car hit a concrete abutment 1½ miles northwest of Shoshone, the original complaint states. The Lannings asked for $34,063.03 for 12 injuries to Mrs. Lanning.

She was a patient at Magic Valley Memorial hospital and later was taken to a Boise hospital where a part of one of her legs was amputated.

The plaintiffs are represented by Rayborn, Rayborn and Kramer; Twin Falls, and Moody is represented by Parry, Robertson and Daly, Twin Falls, and James, Shaw and James, Gooding.

Following several demurrers and amended complaints, the hospital, Dr. Woodson and George Moody, Jr., was joined as defendants and the amount claimed was raised to $321,503.03.

On Tuesday Dr. Woodson, through his attorney, J. F. Martin, Boise, asked for a change of venue. Martin, who also is appearing for the hospital, claimed the hospital since cannot sue the hospital since the hospital is a part of the state, Martin also has entered a demurrer to Dr. Woodson and a special appearance for the hospital claiming the court does not have jurisdiction.

In the amended complaint in which the doctor and the hospital were joined to the action, the Lannings claim that while Mrs. Lanning was a patient in Twin Falls she complained about a crawling sensation inside the east on her leg. The complaint states that maggots eventually crawled from the east and the east was removed showing a quantity of maggots beneath it. Subsequently she was moved to the Boise hospital.

Leader Avers Trial by Jury Is Top Issue

WASHINGTON, July 25—Senator Knowland, R., Calif., said today the main issue now before the senate in the battle over the civil rights bill is whether its proposed protection of voting rights will be "emasculated" by a jury trial amendment.

Knowland, the senate GOP leader, predicted that efforts to provide for jury trials in contempt cases arising under the legislation will be defeated. But senate Democratic Leader Lyndon B. Johnson of Texas said he expects a jury trial amendment to be adopted.

Voting Predicted

The issue is not expected to come to a vote before next week, but Johnson said he now foresees enactment of what he called an effective and enforceable civil rights bill without running afoul of a filibuster.

Knowland, however, speaking in a separate interview just before the start of today's senate session, said he believes there still will be "considerable discussion" before the bill can be passed if it is an "effective" measure.

The senate yesterday, by a 52-38 vote, ripped out of the house-passed bill all enforcement authority except that to safeguard the right to vote.

Still, "Good" Bill

Knowland, who thought against change, said he thought it would still be "a good civil rights bill" if the section for protection of voting rights is kept intact and no

British Planes Strike Rebels In Mid-East Desert Uprising

SHARJA, Trucial-Oman, July 25—Royal air force jets struck with rockets and cannon fire today at the desert rebel fort at Nawa, nerve center of the tribal rebellion in this Persian Gulf sultanate.

Other RAF planes from Bahrain and Aden blasted rebel concentrations in the mountainous hinterland against rebel forces seeking to overthrow the pro-British sultan of Muscat and Oman.

The planes were called in at request of the sultan.

The pilots reported no fire from the ground in their initial 12 sorties against the Nawa fort in which they fired some 48 12-inch rockets and 7,200 rounds of cannon fire.

Sir Bernard Burrows, British political resident in the Persian Gulf, flew today from his headquarters here to the capital city of Muscat to confer with Sultan Said Bin Taimur. He reported request for British soldiers to put down the rebellion.

The sultan has an army of about 2,000 men led by 10 British officers—former members of the British army who are on leave and call themselves soldiers of fortune. The rebel forces are smaller but so well dug in it would take a major force to dislodge them.

The rebels are led by the Imam (religious leader) of Oman, Ghaled Bin Ali, and his strong-man brother Talib. They have declared a "jihad" or religious war against the pro-British sultan and have captured strategic mountainous ground around the provincial capital of Nawa which was once the capital of Oman.

Two extra companies of Scottish Cameronians flew into Bahrain last night from Kefya in three Beverly transport planes, bringing to 1,200 the number of British troops available. But because of the tough Middle East situation Britain does not want to use them unless necessary.

Arco Reactor Is Lauded by Chief

IDAHO FALLS, July 25—Word of the advancement toward producing nuclear power as cheaply as electricity and coal has been met with a report that other workers had been utilized to do the job of striking carpenters at the atomic energy commission installation near Arco.

Some union members said there also were reports that a few Focaltio contractors would like to accede to union buy and working agreement demands and get their carpenters back on the job.

The council called its carpenters out on strike July 17, and there has been no indication of any break in the deadlock over a new work contract.

Allan C. Johnson of Idaho Falls told the fourth annual nuclear advance seminar that "there apparently is much more to come."

He referred to authorization by a congressional subcommittee of a 40-million dollar gas-cooled reactor in Idaho.

NEWS BULLETINS

CALCUTTA, July 25—Fifty people were drowned and 22 were reported missing after a large boat capsized in a storm Sunday on the Hooghly river, 40 miles from Calcutta.

POINT OF THE MOUNTAIN, Utah, July 25—Law enforcement officials are searching the hills in the beautiful area today for two Utah state prison inmates who escaped while fighting a brush fire yesterday afternoon. Prison officials identified the men as Carl Kuehne, 25, Newark, N. J., and Malcolm A. Jones, 31, Union, N. J.

SAN FRANCISCO, July 25—There was less idleness as a result of work stoppages in the 11 Western states during 1956 than in any other year since the end of World War II, the bureau of labor statistics said today.

Solon Claims 'Betrayal' in Dam Rulings

Development will not only quickly provide needed power at no federal cost but will also produce substantial benefits for taxpayers throughout the nation in the form of federal, state and local taxes which the company will pay during the period of its license.
"By contrast, the $555 development could not possibly help to meet prospective increased power requirements for at least five or six years, even under the most optimistic construction schedules. Furthermore, $555 would apparently commit the American taxpayer to expenditures approaching or perhaps exceeding six-tenths of a billion dollars at a time when the federal budget is already under severe pressure," the letter said.
"The Idaho Power company development will permit the federal government to devote more of its financial resources to other developments which are clearly beyond the capabilities of non-federal funds alone," he said.
Eisenhower said he was "firmly convinced that in the long run the Idaho power company development will provide benefits to the people of the Pacific Northwest and the nation as a whole commensurate with those which might reasonably be anticipated" from the high dam.
He said authorizing the federal project would have resulted in "depriving the Northwest of power which is badly needed now, and throwing an additional burden on the already heavily burdened taxpayers of the nation."

queen for the day. She automatically becomes Oakley's candidate as queen for the Cassia County fair and rodeo.

Others named Wednesday as candidates for the fair queen title are Judy Wolf, sponsored by the Burley Rotary club; Maxine Bowden, sponsored by the Burley Elks; Ann Owens, sponsored by the Burley Lions club; Joan Eames, Almo, sponsored by the Burley Jaycees; and Charlene Penrod, Declo.

Approximately 2,500 persons were on hand to witness the big Hagerman Pioneer day celebration and amateur rodeo Wednesday at the Hagerman city park. The parade began at 11 a.m. with about 30 floats. The Twin Falls county junior rodeo and cowgirls and the National guard with two large tanks and other equipment were featured.

In the commercial division a prize was awarded to the Cady Auto Company.

First prize in the Pioneer section went to Mr. and Mrs. Earl McKague in an old prairie schooner and second prize went to Mr. and Mrs. Wilbur Oline and family pushing a hand cart. Judges for the event were Mr. and Mrs. Martin Curran, Hagerman, and Oakley Barnard, Shoshone.

Henry Rademacher, Hagerman was the mounted flag bearer at the head of the parade. Following him was last year's pioneer day queen, Charlotte Lambeth Hagerman, and Gov. Robert E. Smylie, who acted as parade marshal. Ervin Condit led the Pioneer section of cowboys and cowgirls.

Each child entered in the children's division received a prize. Mrs. Glenn Hendrickson and Mrs. Ralph Bergens were in charge of the division.

All children riding calves for eight seconds without falling off received a cash prize of $1. They were Elwyn Tupper, Bob Adolf, Bill Alexander and Bob Floyd. Receiving 50 cents each were Dixie Smith, Buzz Cox, Tony Anderson, Roy Renner, Jesse Renner, Johnny Anderson, Farr Golf, Bruce Gaston, Michael Jacobson, Loren Hatch and Doyle Pugsley. A new contest, catch and stop, was started this year in the children's division. A calf with a rope was set loose and the child was given two minutes to catch and stop it. Five dollars was awarded for this stunt to Roger Nielson, Gooding, whose time was 45 seconds. Lloyd Brown was Hagerman for the event.

A special tumbling number, by three students of Mrs. Merle Leach, Bliss, The Gooding civil air patrol took part by flying over the arena and doing stunts in an airplane. Oakley Barnard, Shoshone, and his trained horse performed several tricks. The Twin Falls county junior rangers and the Jerome sheriff posse performed drills.

A baked ham dinner was served at noon in the American legion hall by the Hagerman LDS ward Relief society under the direction of Mrs. Oleman Prince.

After the dinner the rodeo queen, Bernice Smith, was chosen. She will receive a three-day vacation in Sun Valley with her chaperone. Electrical appliances were given to second place winner, Dixie Bray, Bliss; third place, Phyllis Trooper, Gooding; and fourth place, Marsha Miller, Buhl. A cash prize was awarded to the fifth place winner, Lou Ann Overman, Jerome. Judges were Bill Austin, Wendell, Ray Alexander, Hagerman, and Clint Abernethy, Gooding. Emerson Pugmore, general chairman, introduced Probate Judge James Gossett, who in turn introduced Gov. Smylie.

Keith Anderson was chairman of the queen's contest.

Morris Nielson won first place in the calf roping contest in the amateur rodeo with a time of 22 seconds. Dan Gorrell took second place with 22.4 seconds and Lloyd Brown, third, with 25.4.

In the wild cow milking contest, Lynn Wood took first place with 30.8 seconds. Jerry Krahnik was second with 44.3 and Jasper Thompson, third, with 58.4.

Kenneth Shaft won first prize in the barrel racing contest. Ted Lyle was second and George Allen, third.

Lyle, Shaft, Jim Stewart, Allan Patterson and Melvin Hanesy split the cash prize five ways in the saddle broncs contest.

Jack Pope, Twin Falls, furnished the horses and Doug Wood, Hagerman, supplied the cattle for the rodeo.

The cow cutting contest was judged by Victor MacBeth, Twin Falls. B. A. Skipper, Jr., Longview, Tex., owned and rode Foca Mona, to win first prize. Slim Trent, Prescott, Ariz., owned and rode Sandhill Charlie to get second place. Mr. Harmon, owned by Skipper and ridden by John Carter, both Longview, Tex., got third place.

Fourth and fifth place were tied by Jack Hammer, owned by Ray Chubb and ridden by Dede Parks, both Jerome, and Shu Fiv, owned and ridden by Ray Alexander, Hagerman. Orion Freeman, Buhl, owned and rode Cowboy to take sixth place.

The rodeo committee was comprised of Loren Hoglund, Rex McNulty, Alford Grady, Al Hagerman, and Morris Nielson, Gooding. McNulty and Grady, in charge of cattle; Nielson and Dean Patterson were pick-up men. Larry Hatch, Carl Owsley and Merle Owsley were in charge of the commercial division of the parade. Wilbur Oline, Theodore Gardner and Orval Brown were in charge of the Pioneer section.

Mrs. Morris Nielson was official timer. Bill Austin and Bill Jackson, both Wendell, were cashiers. Doyle Sligar, Thousand Springs resort, furnished the sound equipment.

This is the 30th consecutive year this celebration has been held in Hagerman.

Urban use of water is estimated at about 200 gallons a day per person in the United States.

Adenauer's reelection campaign.

"The statements of West Germany do not conceal... a deal has been made between the governments of certain Western powers and the Adenauer government," Bulgain declared.

Presumably the Soviet premier referred to Western insistence that political issues such as the reunification of Germany will have to be settled before a comprehensive disarmament agreement can be reached.

The West says, however, that unsettled political issues will not bar a partial, first-stage agreement.

Bulgain said the current U.N. disarmament subcommittee talks in London hold little hope of success unless the West, and particularly Britain, shows some reciprocity in getting some disarmament steps underway.

He termed control of the armaments of the world today an important problem in the world today, and said he regretted that Soviet proposals had met no response from the British government.

Leader Avers Trial by Jury Is Top Issue

major revisions are made in another section creating a civil rights investigating commission.

Knowland, who has been working closely with northern Democratic supporters of the bill, said that the administration forces, "our major effort" is going to be directed at preserving the right-to-vote section.

Johnson said the senate, by its vote yesterday, had gone "overwhelmingly" on record in favor of making the legislation basically right-to-vote bill.

In order to give timely protection to the right to vote, Johnson said he approved of use of injunctions, but he said persons accused of contempt should get a jury trial before being sent to jail or fined.

Polio Vaccine 'Shots' Given

A total of 71 adults and 49 children received polio immunization shots Wednesday at the Twin Falls county health department office, 313 Shoshone street north.

Those who received initial immunizations during June are urged to report for their second shot in the series. The second immunization injection is due from four to six weeks after the first, and the third seven to nine months after the second.

Another clinic will be held at the office July 31. During August clinics will be held from 1 to 5 p.m. each Wednesday. Those who are unable to take the shots during that time are asked to contact the health department so arrangements may be made.

Women of the Twin Falls Grange are handling the clerical work this month.

alarmed, and was about to call a stewardess when the plane was shaken by the big rip.

The blast posed a mystery for hours. There are no fuel or gas lines near the washroom and the main baggage compartment is in the front of the 40-passenger ship.

The FBI was called into the case at once and questioned passengers and crew at George air force base near Victorville, where the plane landed. The passengers were brought by bus to Los Angeles.

The craft, on a flight that originated in Minneapolis, and stopped at Salt Lake City, was shaken 47 minutes out of Las Vegas. The pilot was almost directly over George air force base and landed at once.

Binstock leaves three children. Mrs. Eva Binstock, virtually hysterical at hearing the news, said she first learned her husband had gone to Las Vegas when he telephoned her upon his arrival at 3 o'clock last night.

Later she sobbed: "He wasn't supposed to be on any plane." She didn't elaborate.

Most of the passengers on the flight were from the Los Angeles area. There were none from Utah or Idaho.

Helicopters were sent out over the desert to look for Binstock's body and any fragments of the plane.

Grange Picks Committees in Fair Activities

Farm produce committees for the Twin Falls county fair have been named by the Twin Falls Grange.

They are Mr. and Mrs. Clark Kleinke, potatoes and onions; Mr. and Mrs. Noah Oliver, W. O. Jacky and Mr. and Mrs. Horace Turner, table and sugarbeets; Mr. and Mrs. Rees Glick, cabbage and cucumbers; Mr. and Mrs. I. T. Creed, pumpkins, squash and turnips; Mr. and Mrs. M. J. Lebl and Mr. and Mrs. Archie Peters, melons; Mr. and Mrs. Guy Peters, celery; Mr. and Mrs. Guy Nelson and Mr. and Mrs. Ben O. Harrow, popcorn; Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Quisenberry and Anna Woods, sweet corn; Mr. and Mrs. Mueli Standbury, Carl Ann Standbury, Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Boone and Mr. and Mrs. Olin Lindemood, carrots and parsnips; Elva Olson, Elva Anderson and Kathryn Anderson, peppers; Marge Poe and Veda Oliver, eggplant; Mr. and Mrs. Don Somers, kohlrabi; Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Jordan and Mr. and Mrs. George Rossif, tomatoes; Mr. and Mrs. Cliff Davis, Mr. and Mrs. Guy Peters, Mr. and Mrs. Preston Durbin and Mr. and Mrs. Tom Speer, beans, peas, wheat and oats; Mr. and Mrs. Gene Glick and Mr. and Mrs. Warren Dalglish, corn; Mr. and Mrs. Irvin Bondstad and Mr. and Mrs. Blaine Vossberg, fruit.

Perry Sullivan, chairman of the farm safety committee, reminded Grange members at the meeting Wednesday night that this week's accidents on farms happen after 11 a.m. and just before quitting time in the evening and recommended coffee breaks for farmers as a means of reducing accidents.

Edwin Fournier, forest service ranger in the Rock creek district, discussed the Grange picnic area in the south hills and said water lines, signs and rock barriers would be installed as soon as funds are available.

Greene asked farmers to clear weeds and brush from around section corners and crossroads. He said weeds often make it impossible for motorists to see traffic signs.

Mrs. A. W. Morgan gave an illustrated talk on Alaska, telling of the economy, history and farming of the territory.

Seven Candidates Entered for Lions Contest for "Miss Buhl"

Buhl, July 25—The Buhl Lions club has announced the names of seven candidates who have entered the Miss Buhl contest. The names were announced following a board of directors meeting Tuesday evening at the home of Louis Monnin, co-chairman of the event. The beauty pageant is set for 8 p.m. Aug. 15 at the Buhl high school auditorium. Contestants are Janet Johnson, sponsored by the Farmers National Bank; Louise Johnson, Sandy and Bob's Motor company; Sue-Liv Ingston, Green Giant company, and Janet Jankowski, Gwin's jewelry. Other candidates are Jo Ann Lee, Donna Schlappl and Yvonne Blaylock.

All girls in the west end of Twin Falls county are eligible to enter the contest if they are 18 by September and not more than 28 years of age (not married, divorced or had a marriage annulled). Entrants must have pictures taken by Aug. 1. Five ballots will be cast in the judging. The first ballot will be for personality. Others are for intellect, swim suit, evening gown and talent. Henry Pape is general chairman of the event with Monnin as co-chairman. Other committee chairmen include Joe Fehrenbacher, applications; Vernon Craner, publicity; R. G. Thomas, promotion; Harry Jennings, programs; W. A. Zornik, tickets; Lionel Miller, staging, assisted by Mrs. Louis Monnin; and Robert LaPray, awards. The Buhl Lions club will give a $300 scholarship to the winner and awards will go to girls in second and third places also.

Petition Is Filed In George Estate

A petition for letters of administration in the estate of Ollie B. George, who died July 11, in Twin Falls county, was filed in Twin Falls probate court Wednesday by sons, Francis B. George and James L. George, both Long Beach, Calif. The estate is valued at approximately $25,000, consisting of real and personal property. The two sons are listed as the only heirs. They request the court appoint Twin Falls Attorney Robert Stephan as administrator to act in their behalf. A hearing is set for 11:30 a.m., Aug. 5.

IDAHO SAVED FROM SNAKE RIVER "GIVE AWAY"

they played this political issue for all it was worth. Now they'll go before the people in the next general election and cry harder than ever before about the "GREAT GIVE AWAY." They'll shed enough political tears in their condemnation of the Republicans, conservatives and the like to fill a dozen Hells canyon reservoirs.

The attempts of the proponents of a high federal dam to make it appear that a majority of "the people" of Idaho favored government control of our Snake river resources were blown sky high when one of the largest and most representative delegations ever to descend upon Washington went to the nation's capital from Idaho to clear up a long and deliberate misrepresentation.

The propaganda these proponents had been putting out proved too much for several Democratic members of the house interior committee to stomach after hearing the testimony of substantial witnesses representing all phases of Idaho's economy, farming and industry included.

Among the delegates who helped to bring the picture into focus was Alex O. Coleman of St. Anthony, prominent farmer and stockman, member of the Committee of Nine which regulates and manages distribution of water for Water District 33, director of the Idaho State Reclamation association, and an Idaho commissioner of the Columbia River Interstate Compact commission.

Speaking for the Idaho State Reclamation association, Mr. Coleman cleared up several points for the committee's enlightenment.

"I wish to correct the impression of the Idaho farmer which has been given the congress of the United States by our ambitious junior senator," said Coleman. "Mr. Chairman, it is my opinion that you cannot find, in any section of our country, a more reliably informed group than among the farmers of the Snake river valley. Members of your committee have visited our region, observed our irrigation systems, and homes and communities, our schools and churches, and I am sure they have been impressed that we are as intelligent and progressive as any like region in the United States. We feel that the junior senator has been very unwise in stating that we are victims of a determined and resourceful indoctrination, unless he is willing to admit that he was deceived in believing that he was coming back to Washington to represent Idaho and not the public-power interests of Washington and Oregon, whose cause he apparently has at heart."

Coleman challenged the contention that Church's election was a mandate from the people in support of a high Hells canyon dam. "For several campaigns, when the Hells canyon dam issue has been brought out in the open, the candidates supporting it have been defeated by large margins," he said. "Mr. Church, during the past campaign, straddled the issue, refusing to publicly make either an affirmation or denunciation of a federal Hells canyon dam."

Coleman even quoted Church as having said during the campaign that "comprehensive development of Idaho's water resources should give first emphasis to upstream storage."

"This is the statement which deceived the water users of Idaho," said Coleman. "For his very first act in the U. S. senate was to co-sponsor a bill to authorize a federal high dam in Hells canyon!"

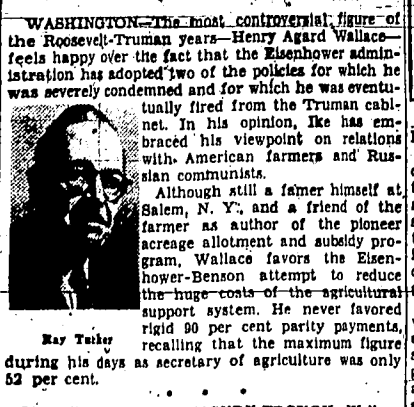

Listed among Coleman's reasons for opposition to a high dam were: 1) It would infringe on our state water rights, 2) no federal dam should be considered on this interstate stream until a compact is approved between the states involved; 3) there is no assurance of future upstream development; 4) deprives Idaho of the opportunity to develop her natural resources; 5) does not provide flood control as claimed; 6) bill's order of listing preferential uses of water highly objectionable to reclamationists.

"Water is to Idaho what coal and oil are to the great states of Pennsylvania, Utah and Wyoming," Coleman told the committee. "Water is to Idaho what copper is to Montana. Water is to Idaho what off-shore oil is to Texas, Louisiana and California. Water is to Idaho what natural gas is to Oklahoma and Texas. Water is to Idaho what timber and fishing industries are to Washington and Oregon. If we, as citizens of Idaho, are forced into federalization of water, our chief natural resource, then why should not all other states be forced into the federalization of their natural resources? We in Idaho have not interfered in the natural resource development of our sister states. Why then should Idaho be deprived of her right to manage her most valuable resource for her benefit?"

In spite of all that Senator Church and Representative Grace Frost and their federal high dam cohorts have had to say about "give aways," the house committee's defeat of a federal Hells canyon dam saved Idaho from a "give away," a "steal," or whatever you care to call it, which could have been disastrous.

In one respect, the action has national implications. The country is not quite ready for socialism.

TUCKER'S NATIONAL WHIRLIGIG

WASHINGTON—The most controversial figure of the Roosevelt-Truman years—Henry Agard Wallace—feels happy over the fact that the Eisenhower administration has adopted two of the policies for which he was severely condemned and for which he was eventually fired from the Truman cabinet.

In his opinion, Ike has embraced his viewpoint on relations with American farmers and Russian communists.

Although still a farmer himself at Salem, N. Y., and a friend of the farmer as author of the pioneer acreage allotment and subsidy program, Wallace favors the Eisenhower-Benson attempt to reduce the huge costs of the agricultural support system. He never favored rigid 90 per cent parity payments, recalling that the maximum figure during his days as secretary of agriculture was only 82 per cent.

TOO GREEDY AT TREASURY TROUGH—Wallace has always argued—and still does—that the public and the politicians, especially the consumers and their representatives at Washington, would turn against the farmers if they fed too greedily at the treasury trough. His warning has been borne out at the current session, for the farm bloc has split and lost its former influence on capitol hill because of the excesses he feared.

Farm support prices, he points out, were raised to 75 per cent after he left agriculture to become vice president in early 1941. They were increased for the sole purpose of inducing farmers to boost production to feed our allies, and to provide a granary of food against the day when the United States would enter the war.

The high and rigid parity payments, and he was their father, were only a military measure, and were never intended to be permanent. But the Democrats, then controlling both the White House and congress, did not dare to remove or lower them for political reasons, and they still plague President Eisenhower.

In view of this historical background, Wallace wishes Secretary Benson success in his effort to restore a relatively free market for major farm crops in the revolutionary bill which the administration promises to present to the 1958 congress.

OUSTED FOR VIEWS—The Eisenhower administration, in Wallace's belief, has also accepted his idea that the United States should try to reach a coexistence agreement or modus vivendi with Russia. For advancing this suggestion 10 or more years ago, Wallace was ousted from the cabinet by Truman at the demand of the late Cordell Hull, then secretary of state.

"Both the United States and Russia," says Wallace in a retrospect tinged with no regrets or bitterness, were then carrying chip—in fact, a rock—on their shoulders. We were heading straight for another war that would destroy humanity.

"I thought that we should try to keep the door open for discussions and negotiations leading to better understanding and possible friendship."

"That is why I ran for president as the candidate of the Progressive party in 1948. That was a mistake. I was taken in and used by the leftists, with whom I have never had any sympathy. Now, I am not a Democrat, not a Republican, and certainly not a 'Progressive.' I am just a happy chicken raiser."

AHEAD OF HIS AGE—Wallace must derive great satisfaction, however, from the fact that leading Democrats and Republicans, including Eisenhower himself, are now making the very rapprochement toward Moscow which he urged many years ago. He even wants Defense Minister Zhukov to visit Washington.

Commenting on this strange twist of political history, a loyal servant of Wallace, now working for Benson, says wryly:

"Henry was ahead of his age, as so many idealists and dreamers have always been!"

THE DOG AND ITS TAIL

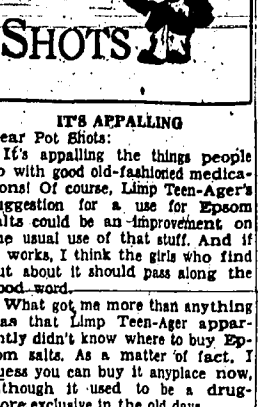

We sometimes wonder if workers do not feel like a dog, chasing its tail. So often the wage increase they gain after pleas or long negotiations is quickly wiped out by rising prices. The cause-and-effect relationship isn't always plain to see. But it has been in certain recent cases.

These northern Utah bakeries granted wage increases to employees after a strike recently—and now it is reported there will be a one-cent increase in the price of a loaf of bread.

Recently also, following wage increases granted in the dairy industry, there was a one-cent increase in the price of milk here.

These price increases immediately and directly hit the pocketbooks of working people.

POT SHOTS

IT'S APPALLING

Dear Pot Shots:

It's appalling the things people do with good old-fashioned medications! Of course, Limp Teen-Ager's suggestion for use for Epson salts could be an improvement on the usual use of that stuff. And if it works, I think the girl who find out about it should pass along the good word.

Get me more than anything was that Limp Teen-Ager apparently didn't know where to buy Epson salts. As a matter of fact, I guess you can buy it anywhere now, although it used to be a drug-store exclusive in the old days.

Who knows, in another three or four years maybe the stuff will be used exclusively to put starch in petticoats instead of to take the starch out of people.

PARAKEETS FOR FREE DEPT.

Yep, the woman says she wants to give away a pair of parakeets. The fact they refuse to talk may have something to do with it. You can pick 'em up at 325 Oak street or phone Twin Falls 4371.

ANOTHER ONE

Dear Pot Shots:

I agree for a program of some kind for the "in-between" over 35 and under 60 consisting of maidens, bachelors, widows and widowers or the ones without mates.

In Boise, there is a program to which people belong and go to a dance once a week and meet people who are in a certain age bracket. Why couldn't this be started in Magic Valley?

Has anyone else of the in-between ages any ideas?

WASHINGTON

By PETER EDSON

WASHINGTON (NEA)—Senate Democratic Majority Leader Lyndon Johnson of Texas rose and congratulated his distinguished colleagues of both parties the other day for their high level and statesmanlike debate on civil rights.

This was observing the best traditions of the senate.

Taking this tip from his leader, Oklahoma's Sen. Bob Kerr stood up on his hind legs a few hours later and declared that no man could help President Eisenhower with his fiscal policies "because one cannot do that without brains and he does not have them."

Later Kerr sought to change the record to make it read, "without fiscal brains, and he does not have them."

This caused Republican—Sen. Homer Capehart of Indiana to object and let the original insult stand, as uttered.

To this Senator Kerr replied in effect that it was only Senator Capehart who had no brains at all and that he was a bag of wind besides.

Capehart went the round, however, and the galleries applauded him when he declared, "I would rather be a friend of the President of the United States, with no brains, than be a friend of the senator from Oklahoma, with brains."

Capehart further declared that Kerr could call him anything he pleased because he wasn't afraid of the Oklahoma.

Whereupon Kerr got in the last word by quoting his father to the effect that, "They that know nothing, fear nothing."

This may be snappy repartee in the old fields. But it reflects no credit on the senator from Oklahoma, even if he is a multimillionaire and was born in a log cabin.

It is an old-time, rough-and-tumble politics that when a debater can't win an argument on logic, he calls his opponent a dirty name.

That is supposed to demolish him. More often than not, name-calling merely exposes the weakness of the name-caller.

"Give 'em hell" Harry Truman was always a great one at pasting labels on his opponents. In a more restrained and polite manner, Sen. Harry F. Byrd has used this technique during the civil rights debate.

Realistic

TOKYO, July 25 (AP)—Koji Nishikawa bled to death yesterday when he accidentally stabbed himself while faking a harakiri in an attempt to "frighten his wife who had accused him of drinking too much."

His wife was so frightened she fainted and could not get help.

Soldiers Blamed By London Exile

LONDON, July 25 (AP)—Dr. J. B. S. Haldane, a distinguished British scholar and former editor of the London Daily Worker, was en route to India today to escape the presence of foreign, especially American, troops.

Haldane, former professor of biochemistry at University college here, was asked to explain why he was leaving Britain for Calcutta.

"I have long meant to leave this country," he replied. "I want to live in a free country where there are no foreign troops based all over the place."

"Yes, I do mean the Americans when I say foreign troops," he added. "I have nothing against the Americans in particular. I would feel the same if they were German, French or anything else."

Variety Keys Shopping for Sunday Meal

By The Associated Press

What's cooking for Sunday dinner? Housewives shopping around for bargains will find a somewhat wider variety of meats available this week-end. Here's a sampling: Tom turkeys, smoked hams, pork chops, beef liver.

For the small family, some of the chains are offering freshly killed Beltville turkeys at promotional prices. The birds range from four to eight pounds in weight.

Beef Expensive

About the best you can say about the choicer cuts of beef is that prices, for the time being, anyway, have at least stopped going higher. But, market specialists say there's still no downturn in sight.

Although you'll find sirloin and porterhouse steaks offered at reduced prices here and there this week-end, the reductions are a purely promotional stunt—no real downturn is indicated.

Egg prices, which headed skyward a week or so ago, are still climbing. Large white grade A eggs are up four cents a dozen in New York, and two cents higher than last week in Los Angeles. It's the same old story: Hens lay fewer eggs when the weather is hot.

Supplies have been tightened further by the action of many poultry farmers who have reduced the size of their flocks—a strategy decided upon some months ago.

Favorites

To go along with the meat course, you'll find those summer favorites—tomatoes and corn—in plentiful supply in most parts of the country this week.

For dessert you can tempt family.

Couple Honored At Reception in Rupert Armory

PAUL, July 25.—A wedding reception and dance were held Saturday evening at the national guard armory in Rupert in honor of Mr. and Mrs. Ronald Schenk, who were married recently. Mrs. Schenk is the former Dolores Dorsey.

The new Mrs. Schenk wore a beige and pink glazed cotton dress with a corsage of pink roses and white carnations. Her mother chose a blue crepe dress and the mother of the bride wore a dress of pink lace. Both wore similar corsages of pink roses and white carnations.

Richard Carroll was master of ceremonies, Billy Drew sang, "I Love You Truly" and Mrs. Ray Clark sang, "A Dawning" and "Let Me Call You Sweetheart."

The bride's table was lace covered and centered with a three-tiered, heart-shaped cake. Mrs. Verma Culley and Mrs. Gerald Jones, Rupert, aunt of the bride, served. Mrs. Nellie Stevenson and Mrs. W. C. Drew, Emerson, sister of the bride, presided at the punch bowl.

Mary Culley was in charge of the guest book. Dolly Bott, Goleen Dorsey, Bonnie Koch, Barbara Reynolds, Jackie Stevenson and Joan Schenk displayed the gifts.

Out-of-town guests were Mr. and Mrs. Orville Chondari, Parma; Myrtle Dorsey and Bonnie Koch, Caldwell; Mrs. Ella Saltsbury, Salt Lake City, and Mr. and Mrs. Al Becker, Sacramento, Calif.

The newlyweds are making their home in Rupert where he is employed by the East End Power company.

Ardis Swan and Wilson to Marry In October Rite

RICHFIELD, July 25.—The engagement of Ardis Swan to Will Wilson, Boise, son of Mr. and Mrs. M. W. Wilson, Sandpoint, has been announced by her father, William E. Swan. An October wedding is planned.

Miss Swan was graduated from Richfield high school and attended Idaho State college and Boise Junior college the past two years. She is affiliated with Alpha Chi Omega sorority and is president of the Idaho Girls Rodeo association.

Wilson is a graduate of Caldwell high school and served four years in the navy. He is a member of the Boise police department.

Triple Link Club Meets for Dinner

The Triple Link club held a potluck picnic dinner Monday evening at the home of Mrs. Martin Iverson.

Members answered roll call with vacation experiences. Mrs. Iverson gave a final report on a recent contest. Mrs. William Coulter distributed satin robes to be completed by Sept. 3 for tableau members.

Mrs. Richard Walton and Mrs. Verne Berediste assisted Mrs. Iverson with the picnic.

ATTENDEES DANCE

ALMO, July 25.—Mr. and Mrs. H. E. King, Mr. and Mrs. Zinnith Taylor, Mr. and Mrs. H. H. Taylor, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Taylor and Mrs. G. L. Erickson attended the wedding dance and shower honoring Mr. and Mrs. Herman Bronson, Saturday evening at Malta.

Little League to Imitate Adult in Togs for School

By EDWARD S. KITCH

CHICAGO (U.S.)—Children's back to school wear is the Little League of the adult world of styles.

According to Carl Bauer, president of the Children's Wear association of the Merchandise Mart, the trend of design in children's wear emphasizes fashions stemming from grownup interests in Calypso and the Ivy League.

"Children's wear has become a fashion business and no longer is designed merely for utility," he said during the Children's Wear market.

Boys will wear outfits with the Ivy League look: girls will wear costumes that reflect the slim look which is high fashion. Clothes for the youngest set have the Chanel look and mirror Calypso trends.

Bauer says children's wear is a bit more colorful than adult ready-to-wear. Colors are vivid yellows, reds and greens and pinks are in South American and Cuban patterns.

The new synthetic fabrics are widely used in children's wear. The man-made fibers are freely blended with wool and cotton. Drip-dry features predominate.

Among fashions for the nursery school set is an outfit with lined jacket of novelty Ivy League stripe. It is worn with gabardine slacks and Ivy League cap to match. It is 70 per cent acrylic and 30 per cent wool.

For the little miss, there's a dress in colorful Tartan plaid with circle skirt that has drip-dry features. The collar and cuffs are durable rayon lining with tiny waist accented by a narrow imitation leather belt.

For the pre-teens, there's a Calypso-styled dress aimed at tuning her to fashion. The colorful one-piece jumper has a native print motif in tropical pattern. The ruffles on the sleeves and neckline stand out against the black piping and bow.

For school wear and fashion-conscious little ladies, there's a coat dress of silk and pima cotton. It has a shirtdress top with bloused back and belt.

For outdoors, pre-teen girls will wear a white nylon fleece jacket with hidden hood. It's banded in colorful broad stripes.

A lined jacket and snow pants outfit of zelon treated poplin features a quilted lining in the jacket and acetate and cotton fleece lining in the snow pants.

A high-fashion suit dress with the Chanel look features a red cord button box style jacket, with gold buttons and box pleated skirt. The white blouse is fitted with short sleeves and Peter Pan collar.

For the little girl who wants to go places, there's a brown, black and gray flecked coat that grows. The styling of the back features flared panels which partly cover the back belt and is actually a set of tabs for letting out.

Bedtime wear for tots resembles ski wear.

Group Plans for New Dresses at Hansen Session

HANSEN, July 25.—The Royal Neighbors lodge, meeting Tuesday evening at the lodge hall, voted to purchase new dresses for the organization.

The committee chosen to make the purchase consists of Mrs. Frank Wright, Mrs. Ora Simpson, Mrs. Virgil Ball and Mrs. Hugh Sanderson.

The lodge members will meet next Tuesday at the hall to make chili for the fair. A discussion was held on articles to be taken to the pantry exhibit at the fair.

Mrs. W. V. Calico reported on meeting with Mrs. Alice Parvin, Homedale, state supervisor, and Mrs. Velma Treadwell, Twin Falls, district deputy, to discuss plans for next year's state convention at Burley.

Mrs. Harley Jones and Mrs. Earl Tridley were in charge of the entertainment. Mrs. Art DeGeorge and Mrs. W. G. Stanger were hostesses.

Group Plans for Evening Frocks Is on Hemlines

BY GAILE DUGAS
NEA Women's Editor

NEW YORK — (NEA) — Hemlines get a big play in the first evening dresses of fall. Harlequin, draped, side-slit or uneven, they all focus attention on pretty legs and ankles.

In the sheath, the skirt is pulled to a draped line at side or back. Sometimes, skirts at either side of the hemline reveal matched underskirts. (This does not mean a petticoat; the fabric is used to fill in the slit.)

Harem hemlines with many designers showing the puffed-skirt version gathered into a band at the hem.

There are a good many uneven hemlines, as in the ankle-length dress that sweeps to the floor at the back.

Colors are vivid—ruby, peacock, deep-vivid greens, geranium, neon pink and the dramatic all-white look with silver.

Suits take on a new drama for evening when they're done in luxurious fabrics and given the added fillip of fur trim, sequins, embroidery or crystal beading.

Belt, important in daytime fashions, are back in the spotlight for evening. They may be crushed satin or velvet or the wide old oash. Most of them are soft versions of the belt, but whatever the type, they are usually placed at the natural waistline.

The black crepe skirt with long, tight sleeves and wide open neckline creates a new and pretty way to look for late-day and dinner.

Mrs. Roberts Is New Leader of Hagerman Club

HAGERMAN, July 25.—Fredrick Roberts was installed as president of Past Marions club, Hagerman Valley chapter No. 78, Order of Eastern Star, when the group met Friday at her home for a picnic dinner.

Special guests included Mrs. Blythe Clemmons, Gooding, worthy grand matron of the Grand Chapter of Idaho; Mrs. Henry Barton, Wendell, grand treasurer of the Grand Chapter; Mrs. Roy Dean, Wendell, and Mrs. R. E. Neyman, worthy matron of the local chapter.

Mrs. A. S. Karloff, junior past president, was in charge of the installation. Mrs. E. L. Chaplin was installing marshal. Mrs. Donald McAnulty was installed as vice president and will also serve as secretary-treasurer. Gifts were presented to Mrs. Chaplin and Mrs. Karloff, who both have served as president.

A tentative date was discussed for a September meeting to be held at the home of Mrs. H. O. Frazer.

MISS IS HONORED

WENDELL, July 25.—Sharyn Willard, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Chancy Willard, celebrated her 12th birthday anniversary this week with a party.

The group drove to Jerome for the refreshments.

Apricot preserves mixed with lemon-rind and lemon-juice, dry mustard and soy sauce make a delicious sauce to serve with roast duck.

We, the Women

By RUTH MILLETT
(NEA Service)

"What's the matter with a husband who can be a fascinating talker when he is in a crowd but who barely gives his wife the time of day when they are alone?"

The reader who asks that question goes on to say:

"If we have friends in or go out with several other couples my husband talks so entertainingly about all kinds of subjects, including his work, that he is a real asset to the group."

"During those times I find out all kinds of interesting things about the people he knows, about his work, about his ideas."

"But when we are at home alone he answers my questions with two or three words, never tells me anything about anything. He keeps his nose stuck in a book, behind a newspaper, or if he can't find anything better to do without talking, he watches TV."

"I'm not as dumb as all that. I don't think. I was graduated from the same college he was. I keep up with what is going on in the world. And I would love to just sit and talk once in a while—but no dice. What do you think is wrong?"

Well, maybe he is just refueling himself by reading and meditating. If his work keeps him talking to people all day he may need to be quiet when he is at home.

Or maybe he is the kind of person who needs more than an audience of one to really shine. Some people are like that. They only make the effort at conversation when they have an audience they want to impress.

Or maybe you haven't learned the art of drawing another person out and making him want to talk. Some wives think if they ask a few flat questions, like "Well, how did everything go at the office today?" they are being as stimulating as possible.

But all that does to a man is make him give the easiest answer possible. "Not much" or "Same old routine."

If you discover this is your trouble, drop the leading questions and try starting some conversations yourself.

If your husband fits one of the other two descriptions, you'll have to be content to have a silent partner unless there are others around.

But you can, of course, plan more evenings with others so that the silence won't get too depressing.

New Hair Styles And Hats Created Now in Harmony

NEW YORK, July 25 (U.S.) — The millinery and coiffure people finally have halted their hair-pulling. Usually at an undeclared war with each other, they now have created hair styles to go with hats, or vice versa.

The result is the hairdo with the fringe on top—to balance the hats which sit well back on the head.

By fall, we women will be hiding our foreheads or part of same under bangs for the first time on a grand scale since the pompadour bangs of the 1930's.

The new forehead covers aren't flat. Nor are they frizzy. They feature soft curls, half-curly or just wisps. Some are brushed across the forehead and down to eyebrow level in what one style group dubbed the "Prince Charlie" cut—after Charles, heir apparent to the British throne.

"Bangs are must with the new hats—especially the berets and turbans which are worn well back on the head," said a spokesman for Coiffures Americana, which runs a chain of beauty shops in leading department stores. "Otherwise the forehead is harshly exposed."

Coiffures Americana is featuring the "cascade cut" for daytime; the "balloon coil" for dress-up occasions. The cascade has a soft, slightly curled bang formed by brushing the hair forward from the crown. It is short at the back, and brushed from either side of the head toward the center to form a "puffed swan's tail." The balloon cut consists of big, soft curls brushed high and full.

"The millinery and hair style people finally are getting together," said Kenneth Battelle, head stylist for Lilly Dache. Battelle shows bangs of all types for fall, some of them brushed forward on the face, others brushed up in a soft pompadour effect. "A little height in the hair-do is becoming to all women," said Battelle.

The National Hairdressers and Cosmetologists association adopted the "siren cut" as the official style for its 50,000 members will feature for fall. The hair is short, but not a butch," said Thomas Coleston of the association's fashion committee. "Length should be from three to four and one-half inches in length, depending on the shape of the face and head," he explained. "There is a trend to brushing the hair up and away from the nape of the neck."

The siren cut has bangs with lift and some fullness. "A little puff," said Coleston, "so they look good both front and profile."

BIRTHDAY FETED

WENDELL, July 25.—Bonnie Mink, 4-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Muncie Mink, observed her birthday anniversary Tuesday morning with a party at the city park. Mrs. E. G. Morrison, Dietrich, grandmother of the honoree, was a special guest.

Joan Stewart and David E. Billings Set August Date

BUHL, July 25 — Mr. and Mrs. Walter Lee Stewart announce the engagement of their daughter, Joan Marie, to David Elmer Billings, son of Mr. and Mrs. Dewey Billings, Weiser. The wedding has been set for Aug. 18 at the Buhl First Baptist church.

Miss Stewart attended Buhl high school and was graduated this year with honors from the College of Idaho, Caldwell.

Billings, a 1933 graduate of Weiser high school, attended the College of Idaho and Oregon State university. He is enrolled as a sophomore at Oregon Medical School, Portland, where he is a member of the Psi Beta Psi medical fraternity.

District Meeting Is Set for Buhl

BUHL, July 25.—Buhl chapter, Women of the Moose, will be in session to the executive officers of the Magic Valley district Sunday at the Moose hall when leaders will meet for a training session.

The meeting will begin at 1:30 p.m. Mrs. Floyd Dams, executive leader appointed by Moosehead, will be in charge. During the afternoon new officers will learn about their duties and discuss any problems they might have.

Chapters of Women of the Moose from Twin Falls, Jerome, Glena Ferry, Rupert and Buhl will be represented. Three such information sessions will be held in Idaho for the benefit of new officers. Other meetings will be at Pocatello and Boise.

The Buhl chapter will serve refreshments.

Hunt for Relics Is Club Project

JEROME, July 25.—The Jay-C-Ettes are organizing a treasure hunt in the area for old relics from bathtubs to guns to help decorate the windows of the Jerome merchants the last week before the Jubilee celebration.

They would appreciate anything that would be of historical interest, clothing, lanterns, furniture, appliances, vases, cooking utensils, dishes, pictures, clocks, etc.

Those having any item of historical interest in their home, attic or cellar, contact Mrs. Dewey Cavin or the Jubilee headquarters in the old Harder building. If transportation is needed for large items the Jay-C-Ettes will help arrange for it.

If any clubs or organizations would like to decorate a window they are asked to notify the Jay-C-Ettes.

Merchants will be contacted this week to see what they might need in the way of specific items of historical interest that may need to be hunted down. The services of the Jay-C-Ettes will be available to all businesses for window decorating.

Care of Your Children

By ANGELO PATRI

Because everybody knows that the opinions of the younger members of the family should carry weight when decisions concerning the whole family are to be made, parents ask for those opinions. Trouble arises when the decision has been made and the opinions asked afterward.

"What's the difference what I think when you've made your minds to go to the shore? You know that I wanted to go to the camp so I could work with Jasper on the lake. So we go to the shore," and the door slams behind him.

If father and mother know that they must "go to the shore" the things to do is to say so and explain why. The children may grumble a bit and express their disappointment if they had wished things otherwise but they will not have a feeling of being overlooked, or that their parents are being hypocritical when they ask for an opinion after the fact.

The children ought to have a share in family affairs, a voice in family affairs, but parents have to be careful about the occasion for the sharing. There are decisions, there are hopeful plans, that only the parents can make and these should not be opened to discussion. For example the amount of insurance a father should carry, the health care of the children, the use of the car, hours and places of entertainment. Such things are not matters of discussion but decisions made beforehand and given to the children as matters of fact not to be argued.

The opinions of the children should be asked on matters they have had some experience with and which touch them personally. They should be allowed a choice between two safe elections. Younger ones should choose between a red sweater or a blue one, for instance. Older ones can choose between the styles offered and have their choice respected even though it seems unwise.

Making mistakes in situations of lesser importance is the surest way of gathering wisdom. The girl who selected the wrong dress and finds she must wear it out will be wiser next time and perhaps lend a more attentive ear when advised. So too, with the boy who insists upon having sneakers when he needs shoes. He will learn the hard way.

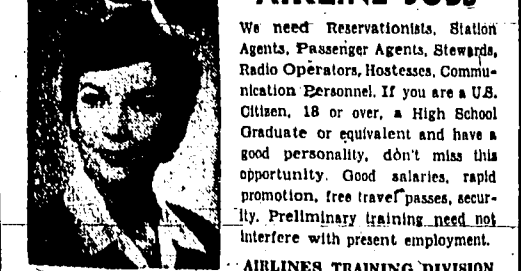

By all means allow the young people of the family to have a share in making family decisions that concern them directly but respect those opinions once they are asked for. If the children's views are wiped off they will feel worse than if their opinions had not been asked.

Children are intelligent people and they are often wiser than their elders—know. Give them at least a respectful hearing.

Reading stimulates thinking, develops character and affects behavior. Every child will benefit by reading good books. Dr. Patri has prepared a list of more than 30 books in lastest P-S, "Book List." Airman Given Freedom, Gets No "Sidewall"

TOKYO, July 25 (AP)—The air force today threw out Airman Donald Wheeler's court martial conviction for refusal to get a "white sidewall" haircut and ordered him returned to duty. But the unrepentant Wheeler said he still wouldn't get any haircut that made him "look like a Jackson."

Col. Charles W. Johnstone, commander of the 6000th support wing at the U. S. Fuchu air base, said he ordered Wheeler's release after finding "certain cumulative errors and procedural irregularities in the trial" and after a talk with the young airman.

He said no new trial would be ordered and added: "I am convinced that he has undergone a considerable change in attitude."

Despite his continued defiance of the "white sidewall" order, Wheeler thought his attitude had changed.

"I spent four days in the stockade," he told a reporter. "Your attitude would probably change, too."

Will Be Good

He said that during his man-to-man talk with the colonel, "I agreed to be a respectable airman—one of the best in Fuchu."

He said he would get a regulation haircut tomorrow, but not the white sidewall kind.

However, along with Wheeler's release, the United Nations-U. S. Far East command disclosed that the white sidewall was a thing of the past.

The haircut disappeared with the dissolving of the tri-service honor guard of command headquarters.

A spokesman for the Far East command said the honor guard is dissolved and there is no more requirement for this special type haircut.

When an organization that requires a special type haircut is dissolved, whatever their requirements for haircuts are passes out with them.

Sentenced

For his refusal to get the haircut, Wheeler drew a sentence of four months imprisonment, a $200 fine and reduction in rank. It featured an Apache Indian-type cut with closely trimmed sides and a fringe at top.

Wheeler was taken from the air force stockade today and taken to Tokyo International airport to complete processing, that would free him from confinement status.

He said the order to release him came as "quite a surprise."

He told newsmen "I'm glad it's over with. I want to forget all about it."

Cancer Cause Said Located In Cigarettes

WASHINGTON, July 25 (AP)—A Cleveland, O., research firm claimed today it has discovered a cancer-producing agent in cigarettes and a way to eliminate it.

At the same time, Prof. Harry S. Greene, head of the pathology department at Yale medical school, said he had pooled various medical reports indicating a relationship between smoking and lung cancer. He said such findings are based on statistical studies and that "statistics do not in themselves establish a cause and effect relationship."

For example, Greene said, by using statistics alone it might be possible to conclude that since bald-headed men frequently occupy the front row in burlesque houses, "the continued close observation of chorus girls in lights causes loss of hair from the top of the head."

However, Dr. S. Z. Cardon, a chemist for the Rand Development corporation of Cleveland, said his firm found that a "known cancer-producing agent" called "3, 4 Benzopyrene" occurred in condensed tars of smoke from cigarettes as well as cigarette paper and cigars.

Cardon and Greene made their comments in testimony prepared for the house government operations subcommittee investigating cigarette filters.

Cardon told the congressmen that 3, 4 Benzopyrene was found more in smoke from the paper than the tobacco in cigarettes.

He said cigarettes can be treated with ammonium sulfamate to "reduce by a large factor or eliminate entirely" the benzopyrene.

U. S. Surgeon General Leroy Burzy said last week that more research is needed to substantiate that benzopyrene of itself is present in sufficient quantities in cigarette tars to cause human lung cancers.

Dr. John R. Heller, director of the national cancer institute, was reported earlier this week as saying that 3, 4 benzopyrene is known to cause cancer in animals. But he said researchers are "not convinced that the agent is in the paper."

Cardon said, however, similar studies made at the Pasteur Institute in France and at the French tobacco monopoly laboratories have verified the results of Rand's research.

He said laboratory tests by his firm showed that treating cigarette paper and tobacco with ammonium sulfamate "sharply reduced" benzopyrene in large.

Paper Claims Dodger Move Is Definite, but Bavasi Asserts He Was Misquoted

BROOKLYN, July 25 (AP)—The Jacksonville, Fla., Journal Wednesday quoted Emil (Buzzie) Bavasi, vice president of the Brooklyn Dodgers, as saying the Brooklyn baseball club would move to Los Angeles for the 1958 season. But Bavasi said in Brooklyn the Journal sports editor, Jack Hairston, had "jumped to conclusions," and he merely said "it looks as if we are not wanted in New York or Brooklyn." Hairston interviewed Bavasi at Jacksonville late Tuesday.

In Manhattan a spokesman for Mayor Robert Wagner said: "The city is doing everything possible to see if something can be done to keep them here but evidently they don't want to stay, so let them go."

Both the Dodgers and New York Giants have received permission from the National league to move to California in 1958. Last week Giant President Horace Stoneham told a congressional committee that the Giants probably would make the move to San Francisco.

No Dodgers official has said so far when the club might go West, but President Walter O'Malley has indicated frequently during the past two years that the move would be made unless Brooklyn can provide a new and modern ball park to replace Ebbets field.

Wednesday's statement just added to the confusion that has surrounded two years of negotiations.

Bavasi said "I did not say the Dodgers are moving to Los Angeles next season. I did not say that because I do not know it to be true."

"What I replied to Hairston's question about moving was 'one month ago I would have said we are staying but now it looks as if we are not wanted in New York or Brooklyn.'"

Hairston quoted the Dodger official as saying: "The only reason we're going is because we can't get land for a new stadium. We would build the stadium if they would get us the land, but the city fathers are not going to do that. They are no longer attempting to woo us into staying."

"The TV deal is not the big thing. We could get just as lucrative a TV contract in Brooklyn as in Los Angeles."

President O'Malley, en route from Miami to Brooklyn, was not available for comment.

Machen Posts Lopsided Win Over Baker

CHICAGO, July 25 (AP)—Unbeaten Eddie Machen, No. 2 heavyweight contender, got little more than a gym workout Wednesday night as he pummeled lethargic Bob Baker for his 22nd consecutive victory at the Chicago stadium.

The unanimous decision was one of the most one-sided in recent years at the stadium.

Machen, 25, from San Francisco, did his best to enliven the dull, nationally-televised 10-rounder, but only succeeded in repeatedly jarring the plodding Baker, 31, from Pittsburg, who outwitted him by 18 points.

The small crowd was booing lustily in the closing round.

Referee Walter Brightmore, who several times exhorted Baker to "make a fight of it," voted for Machen 80-40, the same as Judge Jim McManus. The other judge, John Bray, favored Machen 49-36 and was the only official to give Baker a round.

The AP card had it 80-37 for Machen.

Jerome Races to Win Over Triplets

Cake Reid gave the Triplets only one hit while his teammates were collecting 14, and the Jerome Merchants raced by the Triplets 13-0 in the city Industrial softball league Wednesday night.

Reid got to lose Bill Pendergrass for a homerun and Bragg added a triple. Browning got two doubles and Ted Peterson, Skip Easterbrook and Bragg also got two-baggers.

In the scheduled night cap, Telephone company didn't show up so Arctic Circle claimed a 7-0 forfeit win.

Off-Field Behavior Ruins Most Players, Scout Says

MILWAUKEE, Wis., July 25 (AP)—The first words of advice baseball scout Eddie Dancsak gives rookie players who are away from home for the first time is to see their priest, rabbi or minister.

"More young ballplayers fail by the wayside not because of what they do on the field, but what they do off it," said Dancsak, chief Midwest scout for the Milwaukee Braves.

"But I feel if a young man goes to the church of his choice when he arrives in a strange town, he'll be set straight and won't fall into bad company," he said.

The balding Dancsak explains that a player's morals and courage are two things a scout can't determine in his reports to the front office.

"We can evaluate players on the basis of the way they run, throw and bat. But we don't know their living habits or how they'll play under pressure," said Dancsak.

Dancsak is proud of the fact he's scouting future Braves despite the fact he never played in the major leagues himself.

"I knew I wouldn't make it to the majors when I broke in at Houston in 1937. I didn't have the arm or the power. But I made up my mind I'd learn all the baseball I could."

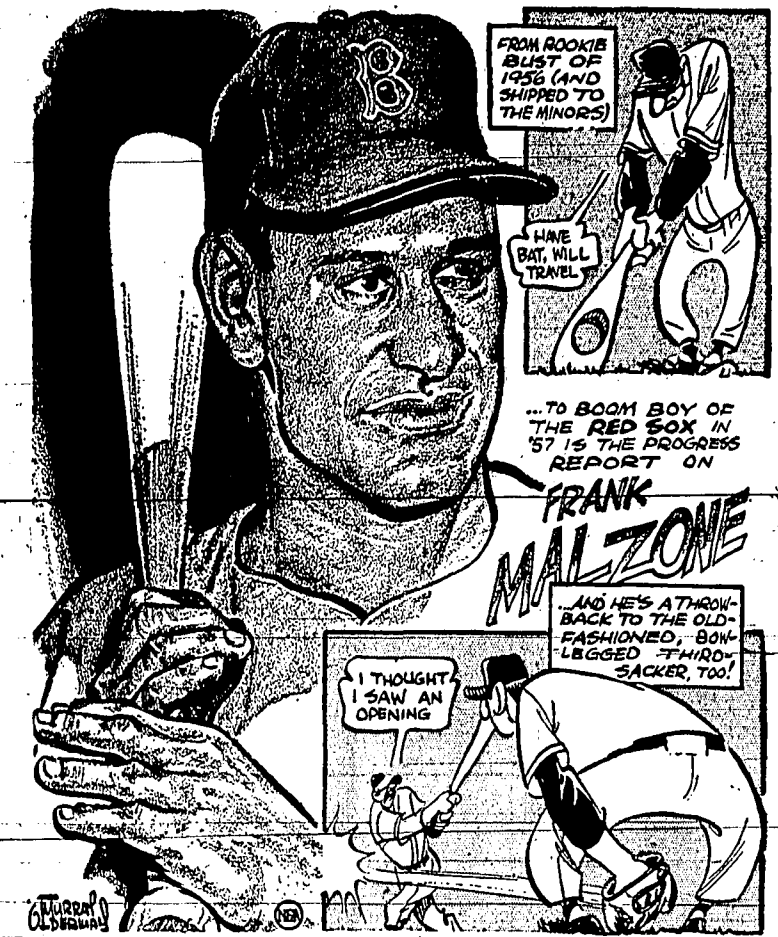

"I played in every minor league classification, listened to my managers and kept my nose clean," said Dancsak.

"I feel I'm qualified for my job more so than many former major leaguers who made it to the big time in a hurry and never took time to observe along the way," he said.

Russets Rally Twice to Beat Dodgers 12-7

IDAHO FALLS, July 25 (AP)—The youth-Russets of Idaho Falls produced two five-run innings Wednesday afternoon and collected a 12-7 Pioneer league victory over the Great Falls Dodgers.

The Russets got 10 hits, including a triple, three doubles and six singles, in the game while the Dodgers were gathering in 13 clouts, including a solo homer by Lyle Wiley in the eighth, three doubles and nine one-baggers.

Idaho Falls opened the scoring with two runs in the third frame on a walk, Gordy Maxwell's triple and a sacrifice fly. Five runs in the fourth came on three walks and five hits, including doubles by Maxwell and Jack Risch. The Russets put the game on ice in the eighth with five runs on two singles, two walks, two sacrifice bunts and Jim Glenister's double.

Glenister's double in the third accounted for two of the three Dodgers runs in the frame and a two-run single along with an error, a walk and two more singles produced three more runs in the seventh.

New Sponsor Named To Head Grid Rating

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn., July 25 (AP)—The original All-America team, which Walter Camp first selected 67 years ago, will be continued under the joint sponsorship of the American Football Coaches' association and General Mills, it was announced today. The team chosen by the coaches will be distributed as an exclusive feature of the United Press.

General Mills succeeds Collier's magazine in the sponsoring role. Collier's discontinued publication last January.

"When the American Football Coaches' association took over the selection of the All-American football team for Collier's in 1948, we felt that we were the logical heirs of Walter Camp," George (Lefty) James, Cornell university football coach, said at a Minneapolis Chamber of Commerce luncheon where the announcement was made.

"It is a pleasure to be associated with General Mills and the United Press as we plan together this great American tradition," he added.

Bud Wilkinson of Oklahoma, vice president of the coaches association, and Tuss McLaughery of Dartmouth, executive secretary, also spoke.

James and Wilkinson are among the nation's 35 leading coaches who rate the college football teams weekly for the United Press. Their weekly ratings have become generally recognized as the official standings of the country's best teams.

The selection of the team will continue to be supervised by the All-America board of the football coaches association.

Big Salmon Run Takes Week-End Fishing Spotlight

An exceptionally heavy salmon run up the Salmon river has copped the fishing spotlight for Magic Valley anglers in the past week and that river is now the "pressure point" for fishing in southern Idaho, reports Hawley Hill, district fish and game supervisor. "Everything thus far indicates this is an exceptionally good year," Hill said.

Headed counts taken at McNary dam, the last barrier between the salmon and the intermountain streams, were still "very heavy" through the fore part of July.

But he warned Magic Valley anglers planning to get in on the run should make their trips within the next two week-ends as many of the smaller streams and portions of the Salmon river itself will be closed Aug. 10.

At present, Marsh, Knapp, Cape Horn and Beaver creeks are closed to all fishing, including trout, and Yankee fork and east fork are closed to salmon fishermen.

Among those waters to be closed on Aug. 10 are Valley creek and the main Salmon from Sunny gulch sheep bridge to the mouth of Frenchman creek, and the river from Sunbeam dam downstream to the mouth of Yankee fork.

Hill also cautioned newcomers that Redfish lake creek between the two lakes is closed to any type of fishing.

On the trout survey, Hill said almost any body of water in the area is producing good average catches.

But among the brighter prospects are Big Lost and Big Wood rivers. Fish creek and Magic reservoirs. He noted Roseworth reservoir is again on the upswing as several hillfish have been reported taken from that body of water in the past week or 10 days.

Also in the southern part of the valley, Salmon reservoir continues to put out large fish. Hill said while the number is down, many of the biggest fish reported so far this year have come from the Salmon.

For the family seeking a place to camp with good fishing nearby, Hill suggested a week-end to the north fork of the Big Lost river. He said there are many good camping sites within a few miles of the main road and the fork is full of pan-sized brook trout.

Roberts Leads in Rodeo Competition

WALLA WALLA, July 25 (AP)—Clint Roberts of Lewiston is leading the region's rodeo riders in competition for a $1,000 cash purse and the Northwest saddle bronc riding championship, Eddie McMurdo reported today.

McMurdo, president of the Northwest Rodeo Management association said Deb Copenhaver of Post Falls, Ida., is second and Jackie Wright of Dayville, Ore., third. The standings are based on points earned at association member rodeos.

Other riders in the top 10 are Jim Rosser, Caldwell, Ida.; Jack Carson, Lewiston; Norman Gore, Goldendale; Tom Tschetter, Selendine, N.D.; Bud McHugh, Edmond, Okla.; Gene Tyler, Ellensburg; Dave Gray, Sedro Wooley, and Ray Simla, Tonasket.

Gate of $300,000 Seen for Patterson-Jackson Title Bout at New York Monday

NEW YORK, July 25 (AP)—Emil Lence, the new independent fight promoter, claims he has $104,000 in advance sales and predicts a gate of between $300,000 and $400,000 for Monday's heavyweight title match at the Polo grounds between champion Floyd Patterson and Tommy Hurricane Jackson, the No. 1 contender. Lence, a dress manufacturer in normal times, is putting in 19-hour days as he combines the dizzy whirl of promoting a major boxing match with his regular business.

"People are calling all the time, wires keep coming in and I talk to at least 10 newspapers each day," said Lence in one of more quiet moments. "I promise boxing for years at the Polo parkway in Brooklyn but it was like this. That used to be maybe an hour a day."

"Now I'm on the phone all the time, having my picture taken, magazines and trying to nail down all the details. Not that I'm complaining, understand. It's wonderful. I hope it keeps up."

Lence started his promotion with a neat little nest egg of $175,000 in the radio-television rights from the National Broadcasting company. That took care of Patterson's advance. The champ has an option of 40 per cent of the gate and Jackson gets 20 per cent.

"It's going so good I'm sure Patterson will take the 40 per cent said Lence."

Lence says the profile he doesn't mention the possibility of a loss will go to help subsidize small boxing clubs. He hopes to run two or three clubs in the New York area as "feeders" to his Eastern Parkway arena in Brooklyn which he expects to re-open about Labor day.

Lence operated at the Park with regular Monday shows for about two years. Both Jackson and Patterson were developed in his club. That was one reason G. D'Amato, Patterson's manager, selected Lence as the man to run the champ's first defense.

The promoter doesn't even want to discuss the Patterson-Pete Rasmacher match that is set for Thursday, Aug. 22, at Seattle if Patterson wins. Rasmacher is the 1956 Olympic champ who never has had a fight.

Lence said he had a rematch contract with Patterson and Jackson should score an upset. The site also would be the Polo grounds, Sept. 17.

SEATTLE, July 25 (AP)—Entrust lived up its favored role today as it started ahead and finished four and a half lengths ahead of U. Uhlman in the featured horse race at the acres track. Cover Hawk was third.

SEATTLE, July 25 (AP)—A Buhl man pleaded guilty to a charge of taking salmon in a closed area, records of Mrs. Lucille Kelley, justice of the peace in Cascade, showed Wednesday.

Mrs. Kelley said she fined the man $300, sentenced him to six months in jail and ordered his fishing license revoked for one year. She said she suspended all of the jail sentence and all but $50 of the fine.

Court records listed the man's name as Neal DeWitt, 22, Buhl. Conservation officer Dick Person said he and another officer arrested DeWitt. They said he had 14 salmon totaling more than 200 pounds in his possession. Person said they were taken at the Stolle Meadows spawning ground, an area closed to salmon fishing.

COWBOYS LOSE TO BOISE BUT REMAIN IN FIRST PLACE TIE

Loudenback's Bloop Single Thwarts Clapp's No-Hit Bid As Braves Take 5-1 Victory

Roger Clapp pitched six and two-third innings of no hit ball Wednesday night and the Braves swept to a 5-1 victory over the Cowboys here. Clapp's bid for a no-hitter shattered as Denny Loudenback got an "excuse me" type single into right field after two were away in the seventh inning. Chicago Beats Yanks to Cut League Lead

By The Associated Press

The Chicago White Sox drubbed the New York Yankees Wednesday 7-2, as Billy Pierce won his 14th victory of the season and thereby reduced the Yankees' lead over the Sox to 4½ games.

Luis Aparicio led the visiting White Sox attack with three singles and a triple as the Yankees defense cracked wide open. In the first, Gerry Coleman let Aparicio's grounder go through his legs and two runs scored. In the fifth Mickey Manis misplayed Aparicio's drive to deep center and the ball went over his head for a triple. In the eighth Earl Torgerson stole second and went to third on Yogi Berra's bad throw.

The Boston Red Sox bunched all their runs in one inning capped by Ted Williams' decisive sacrifice fly for a 6-5 victory over Kansas City at Fenway Park.

The triumph was the 12th of the season for Red Sox right-hander Tom Brewer and enabled him to maintain a perfect record against the Kansas City A's in 10 lifetime decisions.

Pitcher Paul Foytack of the Detroit Tigers took the bat in his own hands to break a 1-1 tie in the seventh inning and go on to beat the home-slugging Baltimore Orioles 5-1 on four hits.

After Foytack showed them the way by singling home Frank House, the Tigers went on to score three more runs before Billy Lee was able to get them out.

Lou Berber's pinch homer off Early Wynn with two out in the ninth inning and Pave Thronberry aboard gave Washington a 5-4 victory over Cleveland in the second game of a doubleheader. The Indians rallied for two runs in the ninth inning against Camillo Pascual to win the opener, 4-3.

Sanford Drops Milwaukee for 13th Victory

By The Associated Press

Rookie right-hander Jack Sanford of Philadelphia held Milwaukee to two walks, four singles and Wes Covington's homer, taking his 13th victory of the season as the Phillies beat the league-leading Braves, 3-1, Wednesday night.

The victory, the second for the Phillies in their last nine games, enabled the team to pull within 3½ games of the league-leading Braves.

Larry Jackson shutout the visiting Brooklyn Dodgers, his favorite victims, in a masterful three-hitter, pulling the St. Louis Cardinals within half a game of second place.

It was Jackson's fifth straight victory over Brooklyn and seventh of his career against only two defeats.

Joe Nuxhall, continuing a recovery from a miserable first half of the season pitched the Cincinnati Redlegs' second shutout of the season as he blanked the Pittsburgh Pirates 2-0 at Crosley field. He allowed eight hits while loser Bob Friend of the Pirates gave up only six safe plays.

The Chicago Cubs, who have lost 22 of their first 33 games at Wrigley field, made it two in a row against the New York Giants on a 2-1 victory.

Don Elston, a Brooklyn cast-off, scattered seven hits to gain his third victory against as many losers.

Ninth Inning Grandslammer Gives A's Win

By The Associated Press

SALT LAKE CITY, July 25 (AP)—The Salt Lake Bees lost one of the hard way here Wednesday night as outfielder Don DeGroot of the Pocatello A's cranked out a grand slam-homer in the top of the ninth.

The A's won the game 7-6.

The Bees had a 6-3 margin going into the frame, but a flock of hits and walks off three. Salt Lake pitchers loaded the bags for DeGroot's out-of-the-park poke.

Pocatello scored two runs in the second frame to take the lead and the Bees followed up with one score in the bottom of the inning and another in the third to tie the game.

The A's edged in front with a single tally in the fourth before the Bees took a commanding lead in the fourth run seventh.

One of the Bees' single runs was a solo homer from centerfielder Bob Hunt.

The Athletics collected nine hits off three Bees pitchers while Salt Lake moundsmen were giving up eight.

PRONOUNCED SOUND GREENWOOD LAKE, N. Y., July 25 (AP)—Heavyweight champion Floyd Patterson, training for his title defense against Tommy (Hurricane) Jackson in the Polo grounds in New York Monday has been pronounced in "excellent" physical condition by Dr. Alexander Schiff of the New York state athletic commission.

Rademacher Is Given Chance By Ex-Coach

By The Associated Press

PULLMAN, Wash., July 25 (AP)—Olympic champion Pete Rademacher has something of a chance if he ever climbs through the ropes for heavyweight championship bout with Floyd Patterson, the amateur's former ring tutor said Wednesday.

"If Pete will crawl all over Patterson, stay on top of him from the opening bell—then I'd say he has a chance," said Ike Decker, Washington State college boxing coach.

"But he simply can't go 15 rounds. It's asking too much of an amateur schooled to three rounders."

"People keep saying that Pete has a jaw strictly from glass. This isn't true. The boy is tough and can take it. The only time he ever really got hurt was in 1952 against some WHAT I'LL TALK ABOUT," Decker said.

Decker said he had been invited to appear on a Seattle television show July 29 as part of a panel discussing the Patterson-Jackson fight in light of the proposed Rademacher-Patterson bout.

"If Jackson wins, I don't know what I'll talk about," Decker said.

Football Needs Reserve Clause, Draft to Survive

WASHINGTON, July 25 (AP)—Commissioner Bert Bell of the National Football league told congress Wednesday pro football needs both a player draft and a reserve clause to survive. Bell said in testimony prepared for the house antitrust subcommittee that without these and other "equalizing" practices "the highly competitive and colorful sport that we know today would come to an end."

He contended the supreme court's decision holding pro football subject to antitrust laws "jeopardizes the continued existence" of the game.

Bell was the kickoff witness as the subcommittee delved into football as part of its investigation of the legal status of pro sports enterprises.

The supreme court's football ruling last winter touched off the inquiry. While declaring football open to antitrust regulation, the court left unchanged previous decisions exempting baseball.

Now the subcommittee headed by Representative Celler, D. N. Y., wants to determine whether all professional team sports should be treated alike by legislation—either within or without the antimonopoly statutes.

Bell said football would be "pleased to see" congress enact bills that would either declare pro sports wholly free of antitrust controls or immune except for purely commercial activities.

But he opposed a bill by Celler that would have the effect of blanket all professional sports under antitrust legislation and court rulings.

Financially, Bell said, pro football is a "small operation . . . primarily an avocation."

Gross receipts for the league's 12 clubs in 1956 totaled less than $13 million dollars, he reported. Combined net profit after taxes was $530,599, he added, for an average of about $44,000 per club.

While the supreme court did not get down to particular practices, Bell said its football decision posed a question as to the legality of the player selection system, reserve clause, the commissioner's power and club territorial rights.

He called these "essentials" and said they should be specifically exempted from antitrust jurisdiction.

tough gent who broke three of his ribs," Decker said.

Rademacher played football at WEC but was not eligible for the varsity boxing team since he had fought in Golden Gloves tournaments. But he worked out with the squad under Decker and boxed exhibitions.

Decker said he had been invited to appear on a Seattle television show July 29 as part of a panel discussing the Patterson-Jackson fight in light of the proposed Rademacher-Patterson bout.

"If Jackson wins, I don't know what I'll talk about," Decker said.

Mustangs Drop Jacks 10-5 on 13-Hit Attack

By The Associated Press

MISSOULA, Mont., July 25 (AP)—Billings pounded the error-plagued Missoula Timberjacks for 13 hits here Wednesday night as the Mustangs grabbed a 10-5 Pioneer league win.

But the loss didn't cost the Jacks their first-place tie with Maglo Valley as the Cowboys dropped a 5-1 home game to Boise.

A single in the first inning drove in two of three walks and Billings chalked up two runs. They got two more in the third on a walk, Mel Nelson's double and another two-run single.

The Mustangs kept up the pace with three runs in the fourth on three errors, a double by Bob White and a single. They added three more in the seventh for insurance on two singles, a walk and Bob Vea's double.

Missoula scored two in the third on a single, a walk, an error and Ben Sinquefeld's double and two in the fourth on three singles and a base on balls. They folded for the night after picking up a lone run in the seventh with a walk, a single and an error.

Injuries Sideline Two Giant Players

By The Associated Press

WINOOSKI, Vt., July 25 (AP)—The world champion New York football Giants have lost veteran linebacker Bill Svoboda and rookie tackle Ed Hayes for at least six weeks because of injuries.

Svoboda, a defensive captain, suffered a sprain of the deep ligaments in the lower spine X-rays revealed Wednesday. The mishap occurred when Svoboda slipped on wet turf while warming up prior to Monday afternoon's practice session.

Hayes, 245-pound lineman from southern Illinois college, dislocated his right shoulder in contact work Monday.

STRAIGHT BOURBON WHISKY, 8 YEARS OLD, 66 PROOF, SCHENLEY DISTILLERS CO., N.Y.

Received

WASHINGTON, July 25 (AP)—The signed 1957 contract of Roy Brown arrived at the Washington Redskins office yesterday—postponed.

Brown was wounded fatally Sunday night while trying to stop a dispute between two patrons of his San Francisco tavern. The envelope containing the contract was postmarked San Francisco, 8 p. m. Sunday—three hours before the mishap.

Jim Jarrett and Jack Hennen, North Dakota freshmen football players, were straight A students in their first semester.

President, Brownell Gives Aid To South in Civil Rights Tilt

WASHINGTON, July 25 (AP)—The Southern Democrats can thank the Eisenhower administration for a big assist in shooting the President's civil rights bill to pieces. Eisenhower and Attorney General Brownell both contributed.

Eisenhower helped the Southerners' complaint that the bill was full of hidden gimmicks by saying, just before it came up in the senate, there were some things in it he didn't understand himself.

That was on July 3, one day after a savage Southern attack on the bill as "cunning and devious." All year until then he had been calling it "moderate and decent."

By July 8 he had plenty of time to understand. It was before Congress two years. In June, with his backing, the house passed it. In those years it should not have taken one of his lawyers more than an hour to give him a full explanation.

Brownell helped the Southerners not by saying too much but by saying too little.

His justice department lawyers wrote the bill. But never, at repeated appearances before congressional committees, did he volunteer or give under hard questioning full information on all that part No. 3 of the four-part bill would do.

The result: When the Southerners dug up a couple of features Brownell had never mentioned about part No.

2—on the use of troops and compulsory informers—it came as a surprise, even to some of the bill's most ardent senate supporters.

The Southerners made the troops and informer angles two of their major points of attack. If Brownell himself knew about these two angles, he could have deprived them at least of the element of surprise and the charge of cunning by frankly talking about them months ago.

Part No. 3 would strengthen the government's hand when civil rights are violated by amending an old law of 1871—under which only an injured individual could go into court—to let the attorney general go in for him. That old law is called Section 1985. Two other old laws, passed to back up Section 1985, were still on the books.

One would empower the President to use troops to enforce court orders in civil rights violations under Sec-

Court Affirms Death Verdict For Snowden

BOISE, July 25 (AP)—The Idaho supreme court ruled Wednesday that the death sentence was an appropriate penalty for a confessed murderer who "exemplifies an abandoned and malignant heart and sadistic mind, bent upon taking human life."

The court upheld the death sentence given Raymond Allen Snowden, 35-year-old itinerant laborer who pleaded guilty to first degree murder.

Snowden, a native of Middleboro, Mass., was accused of killing Mrs. Cora Tuohy Dean, whose knife-wounded body was found in an alley in nearby Garden City last Sept. 22.

District Judge M. Oliver Koelsch pronounced the death sentence in third district court here, describing the crime as "utterly devoid of any extenuating and mitigating circumstances."

The supreme court, in a unanimous opinion written by Justice Henry McGuire, agreed.

"The trial court," the opinion said, "could have imposed life imprisonment, or, as in the instant case, sentenced the defendant to death."

"To choose between the punishments of life imprisonment and death there must be some distinction between one homicide and another. This case exemplifies an abandoned and malignant heart and sadistic mind, bent upon taking human life."

"It is our considered conclusion, from all the facts and circumstances, the imposition of the death sentence was not an abuse of discretion by the trial court."

Snowden was sentenced to hang last Dec. 7. The death date was set aside by the appeal and if there is no petition for a rehearing within 20 days—the case will be returned to third district court for the setting of a new execution time.

Road Project Progress for State Is Told

BOISE, July 25 (AP)—The Idaho highway department today announced that 10 million dollars worth of interstate highway construction projects under contract by the end of the year. Bruce Bennett, state highway engineer, reported today.

Bennett said two projects on the interstate system already are under construction. One is on U.S. highway 30 west of Massacre Rocks near American Falls and the other is in the Fourth of July canyon area on U.S. 10 between Wallace and Coeur d'Alene.

The two projects cover 15.6 miles and will cost a total of $3,700,000. Bennett said six projects costing an estimated 12½ million dollars and covering 25 miles are programmed for early construction and plans are nearing completion for an additional 12 projects. They would cover 246 miles of highway and cost an estimated $4 million dollars.

Bennett released the figures in connection with conferences with B. M. French, newly appointed regional engineer for the bureau of public roads in Portland, and Cliff Salmen, a divisional BPR engineer here.

To round out the 10 million dollars worth of interstate construction on which contracts likely will be awarded before the end-of-the-year are three projects in southeastern Idaho, Bennett said.

One involves construction east from American Falls, another is in the Roberts-Sage junction section in Jefferson county and the third is north of Pocatello.

Idaho has 611 miles on the interstate system. It includes routes roughly paralleling U.S. highways 10 and 30 across the state from east to west and U.S. 101-91 north and south in eastern Idaho.

Debt Suits Filed

The Statewide Adjustment bureau through its attorney Harry Turner filed an indebtedness suit in Twin Falls justice court Wednesday and two in probate court.

In the one filed in justice court the bureau claims Ray F. An is indebted to Dr. Vaughn Pond for $46.50 and to Dr. V. V. Telford for $32.45.

A complaint filed in probate court states Frank Meyers owes Jasper Gas and Oil company, Piler, a total of $19.93. A second complaint filed in the same court is for $450.40—alleged to be due the bureau on a promissory note given by Herbert S. Hardin.

Fells Trees by Feel

Checking his undercut by feel, blind "tree farmer" Fred Robinson begins thinning timber. He'll ask his wife to tell him how the tree should fall to avoid harming smaller growth.

Handicap of Blindness Does Not Hamper Idaho Woodsman

MOSCOW, Ida. (NEA)—A sharp double-edged ax, swung by a blind man, helps boost the nation's forest production.

Although he lives in a world of darkness, 55-year-old Fred Robinson can cut down a tall fir with the same expert skill of any other woodsman. In fact he wields his ax through 45 acres of tall timber. The Moscow farmer is one of many throughout the country who is growing wood as a crop. Sponsored by the American Forest Products Industries, Inc., this private tree growing program helps increase valuable United States timber. Since felling a huge tree requires as much surgical precision as brute strength, most woodmen need eyes as sharp as their axes. But Robinson requires only his wife to tell him which direction to swing so the tree won't smash down onto smaller, growing timber.

The blind woodsman uses the infernal trees for firewood. Without any help he saws them into logs. Then he lifts them onto a pickup which his wife drives.

Unless a job is just too big for one man, Robinson also insists on running the rest of the farm by himself. Without aid he tends another 25 acres of oats and wheat. He sells eggs furnished by 100 hens and is raising 200 fryers. Three milk cows and five calves receive his care every day.

At community dances he plays the guitar and can swing his partner with the best of them.

A severe case of influenza at 16 is blamed for taking his sight. High fever damaged the optic nerves of both eyes. Within two years, he was completely blind.

Country, Congress in Doubt On Inviting Reds' Inspection

BY J. M. ROBERTS

AP News Analyst

Secretary-Dulles made a big assumption when he said the United States is ready to open up its entire territory to Russian aerial inspection.

The administration may be ready, but in the country and in congress there are still grave and widespread doubts.

This extends not only to inspection, but to the whole disarmament offer as it appears against the background of continued enmity between Russia and the free world.

Dulles was aiming to allay this doubt in his address to the nation Monday night and certainly it was one of his better efforts.

The public has been fed American disarmament policy in such piecemeal form that it was not even understood—much less approved—Dulles pulled it together so that it could be seen as a whole.

Dulles has stolen a march on the remainder of Harold Stassen's report to the London conference, by making public the extent to which the administration is willing to submit the North American continent to inspection if Russia will do the same.

Congressional agreement may be as hard to get as Russian.

So far, Russia has suggested inspection for Siberia and Western United States, although both sides have considered that this could begin in the Arctic and gradually be expanded, with the development of mutual confidence, to the rest of the two continents.

Dulles admits that, though every care will be taken to see that no disarmament agreement contains a threat to the safety of the United States, human fallibility remains a part of the equation.

A statement which opponents of disarmament now must consider, however, is that the development of nuclear weapons is progressing toward the point where controls will become impossible. Dulles warns of the time when some small and irresponsible dictator may be able to use them.

The instability of the larger nations to control ambition gone wild was never more aptly demonstrated than in Egypt last year. Having denied themselves the use of force, the free nations now find themselves with no substitute for police-ing the world. In addition to expanding disarmament policy to the American public, Dulles also shot away at least part of Russia's pose as the chief seeker of disarmament. He called on her to really get down to business.

Never has Dulles, the idealist, been so idealistic as in his persuasion, where he expressed confidence in the wisdom of man to control that which he has produced through his ingenuity.

The question is whether man is scared enough, yet.

Chase Named For Highway District Post

William R. Chase has been named to a commission vacancy for the Twin Falls highway district, it was reported Thursday.

He was appointed to the vacancy created by the death of Claude Detweiler. Chase will serve until Jan. 1.

Chase, a retired farmer, lives northwest of Twin Falls. He is serving area No. 1 of the highway district. His appointment was made by the other two commissioners, as provided by law. The others are V. E. Morgan, Twin Falls, serving area No. 2, and Leonard Peters, Amsterdam, serving area No. 3.

An election will be held Dec. 2 to elect two commissioners. Morgan's term expires Dec. 31 along with that of Chase.

The district's office is located at 115 Third avenue south.

NOTICE
IN THE PROBATE COURT OF TWIN FALLS COUNTY, STATE OF IDAHO, IN THE MATTER OF THE ESTATE OF FERN O. PRIOR, DECEASED.

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN THAT Fern O. Prior has filed in this Court on the 27th day of June, 1957 her petition in accordance with the provisions of Title 16, Chapter 14, as amended by the 1949 Session Laws, Chapter 49, Section 1, in which petitioner sets up her right, title and interest in the following described property:

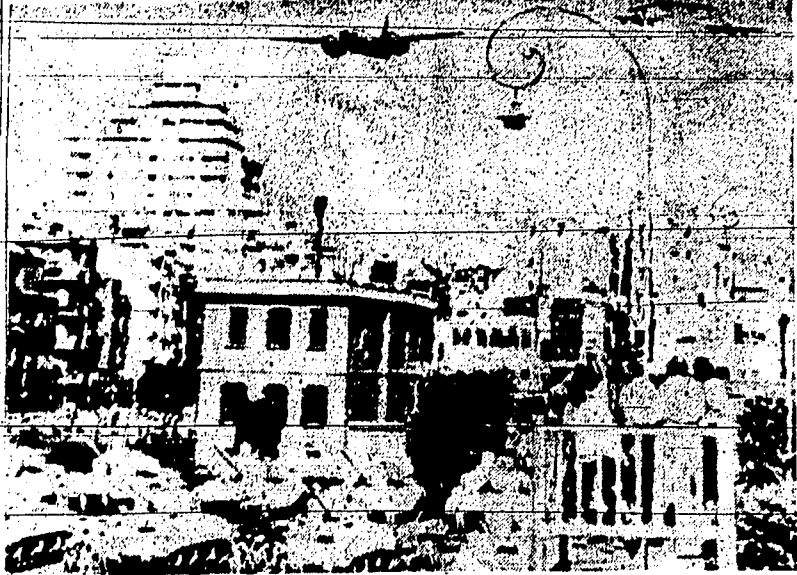

That portion of Block "C" Hansen Tract, located in Twin Falls County, Idaho, described as follows: Beginning at the Northwest corner of Block "C" Hansen Tract East along the North line of said Block to the North line of the East line a distance of 30 feet; thence West parallel to the North line of said Block to the West line thereof; thence North along the West line of said Block 310 feet to the Northwest corner thereof; thence South to the North 80 feet thereof for a road-way.

and that said property was acquired by petitioner and Charles R. Prior during coverture; that said property was the community property of petitioner and deceased; that said Charles R. Prior was a resident of Twin Falls County, Idaho; that Fern O. Prior is entitled to all right, title and interest in said property as surviving wife and heir of said deceased; and that Charles R. Prior's estate has never been probated; and that said petitioner prays that all of said facts be declared and adjudicated.

NOTICE IS FURTHER GIVEN THAT Saturday, the 10th day of August, 1957, at 10:00 o'clock A.M., at the Courtroom of said Court in the Courthouse in the City of Twin Falls, County of Twin Falls, State of Idaho, has been set as the time and place for hearing said petition, at which time and place any person or persons interested may appear and show cause, if any they have, why the prayer of said petition should not be granted and why said property should not be decreed to be the community property of Fern O. Prior, petitioner, and Charles R. Prior, deceased, to which petitioner was entitled as surviving wife and heir upon the death of said Charles R. Prior.

Dated this 25th day of July, 1957.

Egyptians Show Off Russian Help

As Russian-built MIG jet fighters and Ilushin bombers roar overhead, Russian T-34 tanks rumble through Abidine square in Cairo during Egypt's impressive parade of its Soviet-built war machines. The demonstration showed how far the nation has come militarily since last year's invasion by Israeli and Anglo-French forces. The show marked the fifth anniversary of the revolution that created the present Egyptian government. (NEA telephone).

Lack of Eisenhower Fight Is Hurting Program's Chances

By JAMES MARLOW
AP News Analyst

WASHINGTON, July 25 (AP)—President Eisenhower—for a politician—was in a fortunate spot when he began his second term in January. Since it had to be his last, he had no worry about his political future.

This left him free to fight hard for his programs. He's been less than a zealous fighter in one case after another. The latest example is the federal aid for building new schools.

He has been plugging for federal aid to education since his first state of the union message to congress on Feb. 2, 1953. In 1955 he sent congress a special message calling for a program to be approved that year.

Shortly before the political conventions last summer, the house killed a federal aid bill. Eisenhower's own Republicans had a major share in its death. But a few weeks later the Republican platform called for aid program this year.

In his state of the union message to congress Jan. 10, 1957, Eisenhower renewed his plea for money for school construction. He followed this up with a special message to congress Jan. 28, detailing what he wanted.

Now comes the time to perform. The house, where the Democrats outnumbered the Republicans, took up the school aid bill again Tuesday. This bill wasn't exactly what Eisenhower requested. It was a compromise bill.

He wanted $1,300,000,000 spent over four years in grants to the states. The house bill calls for spending $1.5 billion over five years. And he wanted more money for poorer states than the house bill provides. There were some other differences.

But this was a school aid bill and the only one that had a chance of passing. How good were its chances before it reached the house floor? Not bright. House Republican leader

Mine Company Is Accused of Fraud

NEW YORK, July 25 — The Republic Gas and Uranium corporation of Denver, Wednesday was barred permanently from selling securities in New York by a state supreme court order.

Justice Sidney A. Fine signed the restraining order, acting on the basis of charges by State Atty. Gen.

Louis J. Leftowits that the concern had defrauded investors of two million dollars.

The corporation was accused of misrepresentation in sending to New York brokers "a false telegram" claiming it had a 26-million-dollar contract with the federal government for supplying mica.

This allegedly was part of a scheme by Michael T. Gasparik of Queens, president of the company, and Henry H. Kyle of Salt Lake City, a vice president, to create a demand for the stock and raise its value.

Mill Will Close

MEDFORD, Ore., July 25 (AP)—About 150 men will be idled when the Alley Brothers sawmill at nearby Phoenix closes down August 2.

Mill officials said they had been unable to operate profitably because of log buying competition and the cost of finishing operations.

Court Ruling Orders Judge Clear of Case

BOISE, July 25 (AP)—The state supreme court Wednesday ordered Judge Everett E. Hunt to stay out of a liquor case in which he had allowed a defendant to change his plea.

Hunt had accepted the guilty plea of William V. White to a charge of selling liquor without a license. The judge fined White $1,000 on Oct. 11, 1956. The fine was paid within eight days.

Last Feb. 12, Hunt ordered his own judgment set aside and granted a judgment motion that White be allowed to plead innocent. The judge ordered the $1,000 fine be returned to White.

Robert V. McFarland, Bonanza county prosecuting attorney, and Billie L. King, county treasurer, turned to the supreme court. They said the $1,000 had already been apportioned to county funds and claimed the judge had exceeded his jurisdiction.

The supreme court justices agreed. They said in their decision that once a valid sentence has been put into effect, the trial court can't amend or modify it.

Hunt had contended his action was an order granting a new trial. But the high court issued a writ prohibiting Hunt from assuming jurisdiction in the case and ordering the judge not to enforce his order of Feb. 12.

Added Money For Spending In Area Seen

SALT LAKE CITY, July 25 (AP)—Residents of Utah and Idaho have more money to spend this year than last year, reported the First Security news letter Wednesday.

The letter, edited by Elroy Nelson, vice president and economist for the First Security bank system which operates in the two states, said that personal and disposable income in Utah and Idaho should finish this year 4 to 6 per cent higher than in 1956.

The report said prices received by Utah and Idaho farmers from the sale of cattle are approximately 15 per cent higher than a year ago. Prices for lamb, and are up 25 per cent on wool. Milk also is slightly higher, but eggs and potato prices are down.

In other fields, the letter noted that retail sales in Utah and Idaho are about the same as last year. Total non-agricultural employment in Utah in mid-June was 235,000, down 2,600 from last year.

Employment in Idaho of 173,000 was the same as last year. Copper production is down 8 per cent, but coal production is up 8 per cent.

Crude oil deliveries to refineries continue 5 1/2 per cent over 1956.

Sugar beet production is expected to exceed last year.

Wheat production in Idaho is down approximately 7 per cent.

Expert Says Atom Power Age Nears

IDAHO FALLS, July 25 (AP)—An Idaho energy official Wednesday said "reactor technology is being advanced toward the time when atomic power can be produced at a cost competitive with electricity and coal."

Allan C. Johnson of Idaho Falls, manager of the atomic energy commission's testing station near here, said the fourth annual nuclear science seminar "much of this advancement has been nurtured at the national reactor testing station in Idaho and there apparently is much more to come."

He referred to a subcommittee action in congress authorizing construction of a 40 million dollar gas-cooled reactor in Idaho.

New Missile for Air Force Ready

WASHINGTON, July 25 (AP)—The Air Force announced Wednesday a new and highly effective air-to-air missile that is guided by heat to a target, faster than the speed of sound.

It is the infrared-guided Hughes HGM-66A, already in operation with the Air Force command and described as having an 80-90 per cent degree of accuracy.

The infrared missile is drawn to a target by the heat rays emitted by jet or rocket exhausts or in piston engine heat. Once launched, it constantly seeks out the target by steering itself to the detected source of infrared energy.

Author of Child Books to Speak

BOISE, July 25 (AP)—Glenn Balch, Boise, the author of 15 books for juveniles, will be a speaker at the second annual Pacific Northwest International Writers conference in Seattle Friday and Saturday.

Approximately 60 professional writers from the Northwest and California will conduct workshops and a mass autograph party for the visiting authors is planned as a pre-conference feature Thursday.

Balch's newest book is "Little Jack and the Free Horses." It is scheduled for national release Aug. 1, but copies of it will be available at the Seattle conference, he said.

Venus Trip Seen

LONDON, July 25 (AP)—A Soviet scientist believed a rocket can be sent to the planet Venus within 10 years and report back on a TV screen whether there are living beings, Moscow, radio said today.

Yury Khlebnikov told of plans for an unmanned, five-stage rocket to travel to Venus, and its closest neighbor among the planets of the solar system. He estimated the trip would take 146 days.

Denmark Has Big Celebration To Observe American Holiday

By HENRY McLEMORE
AALBORG, Denmark — If your home town doesn't celebrate the Fourth of July, you should plan to spend a Fourth in this Danish city.

Aalborg does it right. America's Independence day is a year-round project here, way up on the tip of the Jutland peninsula.

The red, white, and blue-bunting of this year's Fourth is scarcely more than down, but already Aalborg is working toward making the 1956 celebration the best of all.

That won't be easy to do because Aalborg has had some whoppers on the Fourth since it started celebrating the day back in 1909. More than 10,000 people attended that first festival, and now crowds of 40,000 to 60,000 are not uncommon.

The present day celebration has its beginning in Racine, Wis., in 1905 when Ivar Kirkegaard summoned his country men in that area and founded a society to be a link between all Americans of Danish descent. A member of the society, Dr. Max Henius, Chicago, conceived the idea to buy a tract of land in Jutland, where every year Danes and Danish-Americans could celebrate the Fourth.

Dr. Max was a tireless worker and leader, and in 1912 Rebild national park was a reality, and 10,000 people were assembled about the platform when King Christian X received the deed to the park.

The Danish-Americans did not choose a garden spot for the park. They purchased a tract of land in Jutland, from which most of them had emigrated.

Brewery Seeking Court Injunction

BOISE, July 25 (AP)—Idaho's only brewery, facing possible loss of its license in a controversy over a cash giveaway plan, took its case to third district court Wednesday.

Bohemian Breweries, Boise, asked the court to enjoin Commissioner of Law Enforcement Earle E. Koehler and State Director of Liquor Law Enforcement Warner Mills from interfering in the operation of its business pending the final determination of the dispute.

Koehler had directed the brewery to show cause why its license should not be suspended for promoting a plan in which bottle caps are exchanged for cash. He cited an attorney general's opinion dated June 20, 1957, which advised that Idaho law prohibits a brewery from giving property aid directly or indirectly to a beer retailer.

The brewery's district court complaint said it had been advised by the attorney general's office last Feb. 15 that no statute would be violated.

4-H CLUB MEETS
THREE CREEK, July 25—The Three Creek Livestock and Homemakers club met Sunday at Hoy Brackett's ranch. Demonstrations were given by Bert Brackett, Jaye Brackett, Bethene Patrick and Ann Brackett. The next meeting will be held Aug. 4.

They also say, with pride in their eyes, that an American really hasn't heard The Star-Spangled Banner sung until he has stood on the hills of Rebild park and heard it sung by the Danish-Americans on the Fourth of July.

The Fourth is past, but an American visitor is not allowed to forget it. When my suit came back from the hotel pressing shop today there was a red, white, and blue rosette in the lapel buttonhole, and the fellow from the valet shop who delivered it said, "We had a fine Fourth of July this year. Sir. Wish you could have been with us. Next year, perhaps."

Do like to make it—and bring my own fireworks.

Art of Doing Nothing Is Well Developed in Business Places

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK, (AP)—Anyone who has seen the theater can have a wonderful time in the average business office just watching how its inhabitants kill time. This form of free entertainment holds more dramatic interest than a trip to the theater because at a theater you can see only one play at a time. In the office, however, you watch anywhere from 10 to 100 actors putting on individual shows at the same time.

Mr. Office acting is any sense on a lower level than that seen on Broadway. Actually it's far more subtle. Almost any showoff can be taught to step up on a stage and recite a few memorized lines or scenes. But the acting skill shown by an office actor who is pretending to work while really only killing time requires an ability to improvise under pressure, the real test of greatness in any field.

As you look around, maybe you'll find some of the following types of timekillers acting in your own office:

1. The efficient housekeeper—Every morning he spends cleaning up his desk, every afternoon rearranging his files. But he is never quite ready tomorrow to attack the job before yesterday's work.
2. The prowling ferret—With rows knit in agonizing thought, and locked behind his back, he stalks endlessly around the office in search of one single answer to the firm's problems. His box on at nightfall: 20 trips to the water cooler, seven to the men's room.
3. The dubious lover—This married Romeo, holding a business letter in his hand as a prop, goes from stenographer to stenographer, whispering, "Next year I'll take you to Havana, but right now how about a weekend in Philadelphia." But if one of the girls really took him up on his proposition, he'd melt away faster than the abominable snowman.
4. The harried debtor—He rolls up his sleeves and buries himself up to his armpits in a pile of important papers on his desk. He keeps a wary eye, however, so that no one can peek over his shoulders and see that the papers consist of his personal bills, his household budget, his state and federal income tax returns, and a small pamphlet entitled, "Ten easy ways to pay off a home mortgage."

5. The lonely heart—Believing that two can act better than one, he goes over to the other fellow's desk and asks him nonsense questions such as, "Do you think the light in here is ruining our eyes?" or "If you could retire right now, where would you want to live?"

6. The daredevil—Figuring that all life is merely a bold bluff, this wily gambler does no work at all. But after sitting for two hours with both feet on his desk, he strolls into the boss's office at 11 a.m., and says cheerfully, "All clear, chief, what can I do for you now?"

There they are—six office characters in search of an audience. And in case the boss should suddenly choke to death on a martini olive during an important business lunch-

Extra-base hits for the winners were a triple and double by pitcher Allene Welker and doubles by Renee Nebeker, Jo Huhter and Shirley Dixon. Sharon Hardesty hurled for the winners. Roberta Lorraine and Judy Thurman slapped doubles for the losing team.

Gertrude Townsend's team lost 18-12 to the Trolinger Pharmacy Phosphates with the only hit of the game being a double by Mitzel Gerrish. Janet Rodman was credited with the win. Janice Bates was charged with the loss.

In Peanut League play Wednesday, the KTPI TNT's beat Chancey's 66 Service Indians 19-4 with a double and triple by Sandy George Smith was winner and Baumann, loser.

In a Pee Wee league game, the United Air Lines Mainliners pounded out a close 25-24 victory over the U. S. Marine Raiders with a triple by Morton and doubles by Ron Bradley and Ron for the winning team. Brock doubled and Harvey tripled for the losing team.

Pitcher Joe Gillespie smashed a homer to help the All State Insurance Crusaders slaughter the Valley Christian Giants 28-1 in National league play. Bob Iler was charged with the loss.

T. Moore doubled to help the Union Motor Rancheros win 3-0 over Larsen's Real Estate Homers. Dadds pitched for the winners and Criss Talkington pitched for the losers.

Steve White and Ron Cummings hit the only doubles of the game to help Sweet's Sluggers to win 14-1 over Anderson and Brock's Nallers. Rick Farmer was winner. Tony Stecklein was charged with the loss.

Riser-Gain Bluggers copped a 10-6 win over the Butler Steelers with T. Baird hurling for the winners and K. Williams, for the losers.

In a Doughnut league game, Feldman and Pett doubled for the Gore Motor Adventurers, but lost 18-1 to Long's Radio and TV Cougars. Cutton hit a triple and Neil hit a double for the winners. Smith was winning pitcher. Monteith was loser.

The Fidelity Bankers edged the Coca Cola Fizzkids 13-1 with the only extra base hit being a triple by Renick. D. Klundt was losing hurler. J. Choate was credited with the win.

Pitcher R. Eller doubled, tripled and homered unassisted to help the Kimberly Drug Dodgers gain a 6-5 win over the Jewel Giants. D. Peterson, K. Purves and pitcher M. Humphries doubled for the losing team.

Idaho Power Livewires shocked Mitchell's Texaco Sky Chiefs 9-6. A double was hit by M. Land for the win, which of these seven career timekillers will get his job? Naturally the best actor wins. Nine out of 10 times the daredevil will become boss—if he isn't fired first.

— MADE WITH THE MILK THAT WHIPS — MORNING MILK AND CRISPY HONEY BEE GRAHAMS

Here's a refreshing dessert that's made to order for women who like to "cook on ice"—especially in the summertime. Imagine! No baking or cooking—just whip-mix-and chill.

The secret of the "no-bake" crust is Honey Bee Graham's. You'll love their crispy texture and golden graham flavor.

The secret of the "no cook" filling is Morning Milk—the milk that whips easily and quickly—blends smoothly with the fresh strawberries and fruit gelatin to bring out their most delicate flavors. Yet, Morning Milk costs only 1/6 as much as expensive whipping cream!

Only double-rich Morning Milk and crispy Honey Bee Graham's can make it so good!

|--------------------------------------|------------------------------|
| 1/4 cup sugar | 1 cup undiluted MORNING MILK |
| 1 1/2 cups fresh sliced strawberries | 1/4 cup lemon juice |
| 1 3-oz. pkg. strawberry gelatin | 9-inch crumb pie crust* |
| 1/4 cup hot water | |

Combine sugar with sliced strawberries. Dissolve gelatin in hot water. Cool gelatin to thickened and syrupy consistency. Chill Morning Milk in refrigerator tray until soft crystals form around edges of tray (about 15-20 minutes). Whip Morning Milk until stiff (about 1 minute). Add lemon juice and whip very stiff (about 2 minutes longer). Fold cooled gelatin and strawberries into whipped Morning Milk. Spoon into crumb crust. Chill until firm (about 2 hours).

*For crumb crust, mix 1 1/2 cups Honey Bee Graham Cracker crumbs with 1/4 cup melted butter and 2 tablespoons sugar. Line sides and bottom of 9-inch pie plate.

NOTE: A 10 or 12-ounce package of frozen strawberries may be used in place of fresh berries and sugar.
